Santa Claus at least remains the same. He has refused to go modern. He's as real now as when Virginia O'Hanlon asked Francis Pharcellus Church of the New York Sun, "Is there a Santa Claus?" The editor established Virginia's faith when the element of doubt was surging through her heart. There still remains, and always should remain, the mythical Santa Claus for childhood, which grows into a permanent possession as "Dad" becomes the initiated gift harbingers. Don't take away from the child-heart its faith in Santa. The expose comes soon enough, but there still remains a Santa Claus.

Copy of "Gas News" official monthly publication of the Southern California Gas company, contains in its June issue an article by Vice President F. J. Schaffer, titled "The Significance of the Hour." It is a philosophical meditation of what the human race is missing on its mad race to get some place in a hurry, without having any reason to justify the speed. He compares the present streamlined methods to the contented and slower days of the sickle, the millrace, caution, thrift moderation and patience. We have reached the rip-snotting age. The age of extravagance, restlessness and cocktails. If you want to slow down for a few minutes, and get the viewpoint of a man who has made good during the slow times and the fast times, but who still values the virtues of those calmer days, you might get a copy of the "Gas News" from Fred Mercer. I'm indebted to my good friend "Si" Fluor for the copy I have.

The Santa Fe is going to put a streamline train on the Los Angeles-San Diego run early part of next year, reducing the time between those points to approximately two hours. That would stop a lot of guys trying to beat the train, but the train might stop 'em.

It's getting so it isn't safe to stay home. Well-known rancher run over by driver who appeared to want more than the right of way. They go right onto the lawn now. And pleading for safer and safer driving seems to get less attention than it did when the casualty list was much smaller.

This story needs investigation. But it floats in that Charley Coutts has recently returned from Agula, Ariz., where he went to organize a chamber of commerce. Understood the reception committee consisted of three prairie dogs, two Gila monsters and one lone buck Indian. As previously stated—the report needs investigation.

Fem friend who has acquired quite a reputation as an automobile acrobat timely returns to her position, but does not have as much to say as usual.

And a lot of oranges have also "Gone With the Winds."

Usually a rain follows a desert wind. Hope there is no variation in the usual custom. My Huntington Beach friend has a storm scheduled for Dec. 30. It would be a welcome way to say farewell to the old year.

Neighborhood neighborliness: How to get rid of the leaves the wind piled upon your lawn? Wait until the next desert storm and then rake them into the street. What the elements do not do your neighbor may.

Service club holds sample day. Guy Gilbert reduced to "prelims" what you should know if you take out life insurance.

After January 1 the state of California will pay compensation insurance, if you are out of a job for six weeks, or sumptin' like that. So far as I am concerned I rather not be out of a job. I've never been able to adjust myself to have the other fellow give me anything that I did not at least try to give value in return.

Maybe that fellow with the humming motor who flew over the city yesterday was bringing tid-

Santa Ana Bet Shops Quit In Face of Law

Santa Ana's anti-bookie ordinance died a natural death today and with it died the city's three bet-taking establishments. Closed in the interim between Tanforan and Santa Anita racing, they will not re-open next week. That was the word from Chief of Police Floyd Howard, who said yesterday's appellate court decision outlawing telegraph betting on horse racing relieved him of the necessity of padlocking agencies here.

Howard, anticipating passage of the city's prohibitory ordinance, had been preparing for the past three weeks to shut down the shops. A special investigator, Louis J. Heffron, former state officer, had been "working" the establishments in an undercover capacity.

The court yesterday ruled all forms of bookmaking were illegal, in refusing a writ of habeas corpus to T. Goddard, who was arrested for bookmaking in Arcadia on Dec. 10.

ONLY TRACK BETS LEGAL
"There is nothing in the horse-racing act," the decision reads, "indicating the slightest intention to depart from the public policy of the state condemning commercial gambling."

The horse-racing act repeatedly declares that wagering on horse racing shall be limited to the so-called pari-mutuel system of wagering, and that such wagers shall be made only at the track.

AFTER HANDBOOKS
Howard indicated, however, that the city's war on commercial gambling was in no sense over, when he announced his department would turn its attention to handbooks next.

"There are more of those operating than ever before," the chief said. "They always have been a greater problem than the open shops, because of the difficulty of tracing telephone transactions, and because the payoff is inconspicuous."

Action of the appellate court was anticipated last week by Superior Judge James L. Allen here, when he refused injunction of restraint to proprietors of a bet shop in Fullerton.

Fullerton Singer
In New Love Snarl
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—New legal complications engulfed today Corbett A. Cutter, formerly of Fullerton, singer; Mrs. Mary Bacon Cutter Reynolds, sometime wife of film director Lloyd Bacon, and Douglas H. Reynolds, wealthy Honolulu man.

Cutter filed suit against Reynolds for $50,000 for the alleged loss of Mrs. Reynolds and $10,000 for injuries assertedly suffered in a fist fight.

The city attorney's office refused Cutter an assault and battery complaint against Reynolds for a black eye he claimed he received in a hotel lobby melee Dec. 17 after he sued Mrs. Reynolds for divorce.

Cutter's complaint had named Reynolds as co-defendant and Bacon as co-defendant.

Osterman Recovery
Hoped for Today
John Osterman, 65, prominent Tustin rancher who was critically injured Saturday when struck by an auto on East Seventeenth street, had shown noticeable signs of recovery today, though his condition still was described as critical.

Former Head of Press Service Dies
ROCKVILLE CENTER, N. Y. (AP)—Milton Gargus, 70, retired executive assistant to the general manager of the Associated Press, died at his home here last night after a long illness.

Gargus, a native of Norwich, Ohio, retired in 1929 after 42 years of service with the press association. He began as a telegraph operator in the St. Paul, Minn., office.

Five Perish
As Home Burns
CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Five persons perished today in flames which destroyed their isolated farm home near here while they slept.

The dead: William Yothers, 71, his sister, Annie Yothers, 69, William D. Crow, Jean Crow, and Annabelle Crow, all under 16 years old.

The fire followed an explosion due to an undetermined cause.

TERUEL FALLS TO SPAIN LOYALISTS

Government Forces
Win Major Victory

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier. (AP)—The capture today of strategic Teruel after a week of fierce fighting gave the Spanish government its first important civil war victory since last June's offensive west of Madrid.

Confirmation of the fall of Teruel, insurgent strong point at the southernmost tip of the Aragon front, came from both insurgent and government headquarters, along with reports of terrific casualties.

The battle, regarded as the first major test of the government's armed strength since insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco concentrated his forces in the Aragon, was still raging around the fallen city, the insurgents, at the latest report, recaptured a fortified position at Los Morrones west of Teruel.

Success of the government's surprise offensive against Teruel recalled the drive made westward from Madrid in which Belchite and other towns were taken. On July 6 the government had advanced 15 miles west of Madrid. Subsequently, however, the insurgents in counter attacks regained most of the territory they had lost.

The only other notable government victory in the war was the disastrous rout of an insurgent army, composed largely of Italians, on the Guadalajara front in March, 1936. This army seemed on the verge of capturing Madrid when a combination of weather, warplanes and stiffened government resistance completely altered the situation.

Damaged Liner
Reaches Safety
LONDON. (AP)—The United States liner City of Hamburg, damaged yesterday in collision with an Italian vessel off Terschelling, The Netherlands, struggled today to a point in Theelbe river 30 miles from Hamburg. Arrangements were made for a special convoy to complete the trip. The Italian vessel was not damaged.

In Stretch Run
William P. Ryan, Salt Lake City jockey, was riding in a steeplechase yesterday, but he finished out of the money—and in Orange county jail.

His car—reportedly driven by a man named Yankovitch, who fled before police arrived—"missed" the first jump of the chase and came to rest in the shrubbery of a service station lawn North Main street after hurdling a curb.

Ryan was arrested on a drunk charge, and jail officials later learned he's wanted in San Clemente to pay $100 he owes on a $150 drunk driving fine levied last month.

DROP HEALY DEATH PROBE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Police said today they would drop further investigation of the mysterious fist fight involving Ted Healy after an autopsy showed this morning that the film comedian died of natural causes.

The four-faced stooge of the screen died at his home yesterday morning and while death was ascribed to an heart attack, Dr. Wyant La Mont asked for an autopsy.

A deep cut over the actor's left eye, a discolored right eye and a bruise on his temple suffered late Sunday or early Monday immediately gave rise after Healy's death to vague stories of an altercation near the Trocadero, Hollywood night club.

TOLD OF DEATH
Detective Lieutenants Joseph Filkas and George Baker reported they learned from friends of Healy that he went to the night club to celebrate the arrival last

Auditor Holds Up Supervisors' Flood Control Payments

Labeling two flood control projects "emergencies," county supervisors today found a way to pay for purchases without calling for bids—a procedure prohibited by law.

County Auditor W. T. Lambert has held up demands for payments on the two projects, he revealed today, because the purchases were made without bids. The "emergency" label will enable Lambert to pay the bills legally.

Supervisors took the action yesterday afternoon following a "huddle" session in the board's conference room after Lambert had refused payment of the demands on grounds the purchases were illegal.

Last week the $50,000 Alameda street storm drain, a WPA project almost completed, was tagged "emergency" and yesterday the $2500 East Tustin storm drain got a similar label by board resolution, with only Supervisor Steele Finley voting "no." Exact amount of the expenditure was not known, since all bills are not in. The county's share will not reach $50,000, however.

Bids must be called on all large flood control district expenditures except those of an emergency nature, according to a ruling the board requested and obtained several weeks ago from B. Z. McKinney, special counsel on flood control matters.

Lambert said he had held up payment of bills on both projects until the board took its action, and added he was acting under the law creating the flood control district when he did so.

After the mixup, the board gingerly moved to call for bids on a $700 project, extension of the Costa Mesa storm drain for 600 feet along Newport boulevard.

Another project will get under way soon, following transfer of $6000 from the dormant Laguna Canyon storm drain project for work on the Ritchey street drain south of Tustin.

Prime Min. Neville Chamberlain

Two Nations Announce Peace Policy

(EDITORIAL)
It is no mere coincidence that the responsible party heads of the two major governments of the world spoke their views simultaneously yesterday on the subject of "the difficult foreign situation."

In the British house of commons, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Eden made it clear that—
"... it must not be thought our desire for peace and patience under repeated provocation means we either are indifferent to our international relations or forgetful of our duty to protect British interests."

"... it is time now for the Japanese government to show they are not unmindful of the rights and interests of foreigners and that their assurances and apologies mean something more than words."

"... most important of all are relations of the British commonwealth with the United States."
Meanwhile, on this side of the water, was being made public an extraordinary interchange of telegrams in which

NAZIS HAVE 'MOCK' XMAS

BERLIN. (AP)—Germany experienced today what the Nazis have in store as a substitute for the Christmas season.

The new Christmas was in the form of winter solstice exercises in Berlin and hundreds of other German cities shortly after midnight by the brown-shirted storm troops.

There were Christmas trees in all local storm troop headquarters, but they were usually surmounted, not by the Star of Bethlehem, but by a swastika. Singing of Christmas carols was banned.

Fifteen morning and three evening newspapers are published daily in London.

Peace Policy Announced

Mr. Landon, as titular head of the Republican party told President Roosevelt—

"... politics cease at the water's edge."

"I want to renew my pledge" of "... cooperation and support in the difficult foreign situation."

And the President replied, thanking him and accepting his offer of cooperation—

"... Throughout our long history we Americans have rejected every suggestion that ultimate security can be assured by closing our eyes to the fact that whether we like it or not we are a part of a large world of other nations and peoples."

"As such we owe some measure of cooperation and even leadership in maintaining standards of conduct helpful to the ultimate goal of general peace."

Now, from London, comes the news that six British warships may be dispatched to China.

It is evident that a great world drama is unfolding.

My friend Dave Browning of Laguna Beach is worried about his health, and insists that I take a vacation which will carry me farther away than Irvine station. Which reminds me that when I first went into a newspaper office something more than a half century ago the journeyman printers urged me to get out. Thought I wouldn't live through it. I had to buy flowers for all of 'em.

DRINKS GLASS CHIPS, SUES

Charging the F. W. Woolworth company sold him a malted milk containing chips of glass, Charles Melvin Martin today asked $25,536.68 damages in a superior court suit.

Martin filed suit against the company, which maintains a store at 107 West Fourth street, alleging he was sold the malted milk by one of the company's employees last Aug. 10.

Because it contained chips of glass, Martin alleged the drink was "dangerous to human life and health." He has been disabled because of internal injuries, he alleges, and kept from earning his regular $160 a month. He asks, in a complaint filed by Atty. Fred Forgy, damages of $416.68 for medical expenses and $1120 for loss of wages besides $24,000 general damages.

Woman Opens Campaign Against Slot Machines

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—Alton's "Carry Nation of the slot machines," Mrs. Irene Kite, disclaimed today any desire to be a reformer.

Saturday night she swung a hand-ax in seven downtown drug shops, destroying the "one armed bandits." She was detained by police but later was released.

In explanation of her hatchet wielding exploit, Mrs. Kite said today:

"The individuals in charge of the gambling syndicate here have broken my husband's spirit. It was the only way I knew to get at those who allow one man to operate and don't allow another."

Refinery Workers To Get Bonus

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — McVicker-Rood employees will meet with M. M. McCallen's refinery employees at the McCallen refinery Dec. 24 for a Dutch lunch, when $400 in prizes will be given away.

According to President McCallen, employees of the refinery company will receive Christmas bonus checks equaling about 5 per cent of their yearly salary some time this week.

MAHARAJAH DIES. — PONDICHERY, India. (AP) Sir Tukoji Rao Puar, former Maharajah of Dewas, who followed the twinkling toes of the dancing girl "Janki" into exile, died today. Infatuated with the dancing girl, the ex-ruler fled his Indian state in 1933, leaving an empty treasury. He was charged with extortion and maladministration.

RUSH BRITISH MEN TO CHINA

LONDON. (AP)—The war office announced today that the British garrison at Hongkong would be strengthened as the government dispatched the 16th protest it has made to Japan since the outbreak of the Far Eastern conflict.

Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo, was instructed to protest a Japanese attack and seizure of a Chinese customs vessels in territorial waters off the British colony of Hongkong, Dec. 11.

REACH POST JAN. 28. The double action followed a two and a half hour review of the Oriental situation by the cabinet this morning, and yesterday's assertion from Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in the house of commons that Japan should not be deceived by British patience.

The troopship Dunera prepared to leave Southampton to take aboard the second battalion of Royal Scots at Bombay who will go to Hongkong, lying off Canton in South China, which reports have indicated the Japanese will attack shortly with a major offensive. The Royal Scots were scheduled to reach their new post Jan. 28.

The protest also requested assurances that Japan would respect Hongkong and its territorial waters in the future.

300 AMERICANS IN PATH OF NEW JAPANESE ADVANCE

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese bombers roared today over the industrial seaport of Tsingtao, where three United States warships stood by to evacuate the 300 Americans there if necessary.

United States consular authorities advised Americans to leave as fears increased that Japanese would attack the city in retaliation for destruction of Japanese cotton mills by Chinese troops.

The U. S. cruiser Marblehead, the destroyer Pope and the Gunboat Sacramento were in the harbor of the city, which is 390 miles north of Shanghai.

REFUGEES FLEE

Reports that 30,000 Japanese troops had left Shanghai for an unknown destination and that 80 transports were ready for additional troops gave impetus to fears that Tsingtao, as well as other of China's coastal cities, would be attacked.

A Japanese army spokesman announced that he "hoped" Japanese would capture Hangchow, seaport south of Shanghai, before New Year's day, and expressed the wish that Chinese would withdraw from the city to prevent possible destruction of its famous religious structures.

United States authorities at Shanghai and Tokyo notified Japanese that a flag-decorated train carrying 300 foreign refugees, some of whom were Americans, would leave Hankow for Canton tomorrow. The train was due at Canton from the interior city on Christmas day.

Seek 25 Tons of Meat for L. A. City Prisoners

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Bids on 25 tons of meat and 15 tons of bread for city prisoners have been opened by the police commission.

After study, the commissioner recommended the city purchasing agent accept the Republic Meat corporation's bid of $5239 for the meat and the Supreme Bakery company's bid of $3227.10 for the bread.

The provisions are to feed city prisoners during January and February.

Congressmen to Fly Homeward

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Several California congressmen made arrangements today for hasty trips home for the holiday season.

Among them were Representatives Elliott, Carter, Havenner and Welch.

Another Californian, Representative Dockweiler, said he was considering flying to Los Angeles the day after Christmas so as to be with his father, Isadore B. Dockweiler, on the occasion of the latter's 70th birthday Dec. 28.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The income of Jack Holmgren, "legal" bookmaker, was placed at $25,000 a month by Mrs. Freda Holmgren, who filed suit for separate maintenance here today.

She charged her husband with desertion.

VALENCIA CROP ABOUT NORMAL

That Orange county's valencia crop for the coming year will be about normal, or an 80 to 85 per cent crop, is an estimate made today by Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs.

"The younger trees seem to be well-loaded with fruit and may need propping," Tubbs stated. He said also there seems to be a good crop of outside fruit on the larger trees, but added "it may look larger now than it will really be."

Of 66,000 acres of orange trees planted in this county, 64,000 acres are in valencias, the remaining 100 or 1500 acres are navel. A report from Washington, D. C., received today states the California valencia crop is forecast at

Two Appeal in Insurance Case

Losers of $264.03 in a justice court decision, Don Messerall and Sylvia Lopez y Bajo went to superior court on appeal today to fight the ruling of Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Winners in the justice court cases were Charles V. Green and the Fidelity-Phoenix Fire Insurance company, who sued for $350 for damages to Green's car in a collision Dec. 15, 1936 at Santa Ana boulevard and Chapman avenue. They charged Messerall, driver of the other defendant's car, was negligent. The appeal was being heard today by Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen.

about 25,500,000 boxes and that such a yield would be about 50 per cent greater than last season. Tubbs labeled the report as a bit high.

ROAD DEATH MYSTERY TO OFFICERS

Who's the victim and who killed him? These twin mysteries still were baffling Coroner Earl Abbey and California highway patrolmen today as they continued to investigate the death of "John Doe" on the coast boulevard near Huntington Beach last Saturday.

The unknown man was found unconscious on the highway, apparently a few minutes after he had been struck by a hit-run driver. The man died several hours later, and Abbey has been unable to identify him. Inquest plans, consequently, are being delayed.

An inquest into the death of E. J. Baily, 48, Whittier, meanwhile, was being held this morning in the McAulay & Sutters mortuary at Fullerton. She died early Monday of injuries received in an accident near Fullerton Saturday.

Early Shopping Proves Mistake

Mrs. Marie Hamil, 1901 North Main street, did her Christmas shopping early, but it didn't do any good.

Now she has to do it again because someone stole three packages from her car last night. The loot, secured when someone picked the lock on her auto door, was valued at $5.

Today Mrs. Hamil was wishing she'd put the "Do Not Open Till Christmas" sign on the car instead of the package.

Rotarians Imitate Santa Claus

Rotarians played Santa Claus to each other yesterday at the club's annual Sample day luncheon.

With Mac Robbins filling the part of old Saint Nick, trade samples from half a hundred businesses were exchanged. Christmas music brightened the occasion. It was furnished by the high school girls double octet under direction of Herbert Bickel.

Thomas J. Buford, 90, of Huntington Beach, who died Dec. 18, will be held at Corvallis, Ore., where the body is being forwarded by Winbiger mortuary.

Santa Fe Chief

Paul P. Hastings, above, will become vice president in charge of traffic for Santa Fe System lines on March 1, 1938, President S. T. Bledsoe announced today. Hastings, who has been with the company since 1891, succeeds Fred B. Houghton, resigning after 53 years of continuous service. He is a San Franciscan.

Varied Bill On Police Court Menu

A varied bill was on the Santa Ana police court menu yesterday as Judge J. G. Mitchell heard two speeding cases, one assault and battery arraignment, a dog license case and collected 14 overtime parking fines.

Nicholas D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney, paid for four parking tickets and Elizabeth Meyer paid $6 on six more citations.

Harold A. Vollmer, Santa Ana, was fined $25 for failing to have a dog license, but the fine was suspended.

Pleading not guilty to assault and battery charges, Marvin Meyer, 412 West Santa Clara street, will be tried Dec. 28. He waived a jury.

Speeding fines levied: Richard P. DeSmet, Santa Ana, $5, and Sara J. Haddon, Santa Ana, $5.

From June, 1936, through June, 1937, the gold stock of the United States was increased to $12,318,000,000, the largest stock on record.

SANTA CLAUS NOW ON BUSY SCHEDULE

"FOR HIRE"—Genuine Santa Claus in full regalia. Six feet tall, weighs 198 pounds. Possesses unusually convincing whiskers. Called at half dozen schools last week; works daily at Santa Ana department store and this week will visit the County Hospital and Elks club Christmas programs, among others. Will be available for half dozen personal visits Christmas to local homes at stipulated price.

Probably the most popular man in the Santa Claus profession in town is Frank R. Brown of Tustin, who is described above. He's a graduate of Sherman Institute and Riverside Junior college, has played end on football teams at aforementioned schools.

Most sought Christmas present by girls this year, he observes after talking with hundreds of children, is the "diety doll," second most called for gift being skates. Most boys want electrical trains with a second wish being tricycles. Older boys favor bicycles.

During slack seasons in his profession, Santa Claus says he is a pressman and resides at Tustin. Admits he rides to work this time of the year in an automobile, but wouldn't have any of his admirers know this.

Tree Competition Decided Tonight

Entries in the Edison women's annual outdoor Christmas tree contest will be judged tonight, Elizabeth Millen, chairman, announced.

Final entries will be received up to 5 p. m. They can be made by calling Miss Martha Johnston at the Edison company.

Firemen's Ball Tomorrow Night

Santa Ana will dance tomorrow night for the benefit of the firemen's benefit fund.

The dance is scheduled for 9 p. m. in the American Legion hall. Lee Mann and his Sunny Californians will play. Features will be presented by the "Orange Blossom Trio."

Spanish War Vet Officers Named

Calumpit Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, ended its 1937 business program last night, with appointment of subordinate officers by Commander-elect Albert P.

Dresser. Other officers will be named during the week.

Appointed last night were Charles E. Dixon, adjutant; William Brown, quartermaster; Marriott C. Cooper, historian; Captain Frederick L. Carrier, chaplain; Walter W. Tantlinger, sergeant major; Joseph L. Peterman, quartermaster sergeant, and George V. Area, chief musician.

Joint installation of officers will be held with the camp auxiliary, Jan. 4, to be preceded by the annual officers' dinner at the Rossmore Cafe. The camp will hold a potluck dinner on Dec. 28.

HOW TO STRING BEADS

In stringing beads with very small holes first twist the cord tightly. Then dip the end into household cement or glue. When the cord is dry it will pass through the holes easily.

....Scents and Sensibility

"Sensibility" is defined as "Susceptibility to outside influence." Ladies use perfumes to engender this receptive mood, and gentlemen give it for the same reason. So, by all laws of reciprocity, give and take, cause and effect—in short, by ALL the laws, perfume is the perfect gift from a man to a woman. And Rankin's is the perfect place to buy it. For gentlemen, here is fragrance! Distilled from the fairest flowers of France. In bottles like jewels and boxes like jewel cases. And at prices ranging all the way from the infamodest to the super-splurging! Demonstrate your good sense this Christmas and insure her sensibility!

SMUGGLING ON COAST DECREASES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Intensive war against smugglers waged by the enforcement unit of the customs bureau has virtually stopped importation of illegal narcotics on the Pacific coast.

E. G. Shamhart, chief of the unit said today no narcotics smuggled from the Orient had been seized on the West coast in months while that which had been captured was found to have been smuggled through New York and shipped to coast peddlers.

CIRCLE COAST
Shamhart attributed the decrease of the smuggling to the Pacific to the expanded enforcement unit which circled the coasts and borders of the nation with customs agents trained in the work of trapping smugglers. He said the ship strike on the west coast and the war in the Far East had put the finishing touches to the criminals.

Closing the Pacific ports to narcotic smugglers, however, caused more attempts to bring them into the country through eastern ports. Here, too, Shamhart said, the customs agents were making it more costly and more dangerous for the dealers in illegal narcotics. All smugglers of any consequence, he said, are known to customs agents and a close watch is kept on their movements.

SMALL SHIPMENTS
Instead of trying to bring in large quantities of narcotics in a single shipment Shamhart said the smugglers are splitting their goods into small lots and trying to run in small quantities in more frequent trips.

In the last year, he continued, smoking opium formerly smuggled only through Pacific ports, had been showing up in seizures made in New York.

Augmented forces of agents in the north Atlantic ports find narcotics only one of many varieties of contraband with which they have to contend. In the larger ports, Shamhart said, attempts are made to smuggle everything from expensive German cameras and clothing to diamonds and other jewelry.

Some of the smuggling is attempted by prominent persons returning from Europe. Agents abroad keep track of unusual purchases by tourists and if the articles are not declared a search of their luggage, Shamhart said, generally exposes the attempt.

Seek Sailor in Harbor Mystery

WILMINGTON. (AP)—Police, prodded by discovery of blood-stained clothing, searched today for Frank Nichols, who disappeared from the house he rented last Nov. 18.

L. A. Kimball, of San Pedro told police that Nichols paid him part of the rent at that time, but that on Nov. 30 another man, who gave the name of A. McLaughlin, gave him the balance.

Yesterday Kimball went to the house to collect more rent and found no signs of occupancy. He did find some bloodstained clothing, digging implements and signs of excavation under the house.

Kimball said that McLaughlin told him Nichols was away at sea and he would stay in the house during his absence.

Hollywood Sights, Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Here's a side-light on fame, or a new parlor game if you choose.

Try to name 10 women in contemporary life, outside the entertainment field and politics, so well known that their names bring instant recognition from the man in the street.

Simple? That's what we all said when an advertising specialist of our acquaintance broached the question. We started with Margaret Mitchell, but so had he. And he'd been disillusioned.

His company makes a practice of testing big names on the man in the street, systematically. In this instance, the quiz showed that a great many people had heard of "Gone With the Wind" but had no idea who Miss Mitchell was.

ACTRESSES DO BETTER
Several popular women magazine writers came next, but didn't score. A famous illustrator drew the same blank—a woman who's been doing very good art work for the biggest magazines for years. Her name, you'd think, would be a household word. Maybe in yours, and mine, but in most households the isn't so well known, as, say, Toby Wing, Betty Grable, Ida Lupino, or half a dozen movie blondes.

We thought of Margaret Sanger and Emily Post too late to check up their "fame" score from the commercial angle, but several others you'd think would be "famous" just aren't.

It's interesting if depressing. Margaret Mitchell, who worked seven years on a period novel, isn't really famous. The girl who plays Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind"—well, that's different. That will be a name to seek for commercial endorsements!

SAVING A FROG
Ephraim, this country's frog-lovers will be delighted to hear, is safe. And so is a comedy moment from the Civil War film, "Benefits Forged."

Walter Huston was supposed to eat Ephraim while James Stewart looked on. Huston, a circuit-riding preacher in the story, with Stewart his son, visits Leona Roberts, playing a backwoods crone. Nothing in the house to eat, so the crone draws water from the well and boils up a mess of mush. Ephraim lived in the well and that's where he comes in the story—in the mush, boiled. Huston has to eat him so as not to offend Sister.

Nobody boiled Ephraim. Huston said he had neither the heart nor the stomach for a boiled Ephraim. Besides, Ephraim had become quite a pet on the set.

Lou Crowley, the property man, really saved Ephraim—and Huston. He made a plaster mould of the frog, then reproduced a supply of Ephraims—effigies in green mint jelly.

Deanna Durbin's parents have her life insured for $500,000. Tried to insure her for a million, but half of that was the limit the several insurance brokers would write.

Eddie Cantor broadcasts on Wednesday evenings. Thursdays at his home he hears the records of the program—and so do his neighbors up and down the street.

Mickey Rooney has reached man's estate—Director Richard Thorpe ordered a closed stage today Mickey had to display the tender passion, seriously, for the first time.

TOURISTS SET NEW RECORD

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—More tourists than ever before visited Southern California during the 1937 travel year, H. D. Ivey, vice president of the All-Year club, said today.

Ivey said tourists spent a total of $216,713,817 during that time—the most since the flush days of 1929 before the market crash.

"Our tourist visitors this year equaled the combined population of Los Angeles, Pasadena and Long Beach," he added.

COAST UPSWING DUE—GIANNINI

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board of the Bank of America, said in an interview today that the Pacific Coast had seen the end of business "recession" and that "we are living in comparative affluence and have every reason for confidence in the immediate future."

Giannini said "industry is bound to get into high gear very soon. Consumption is now ahead of production. Many stores are completely out of certain lines. Factories will get new stock orders."

T-I-D-B-I-T-S...

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

Since the biggest holiday of the year is practically upon us, I noticed that the John Tessimann home is gorgeous just now with natural Christmas decorations. Across the front, banked against the white stucco facade, are red berries, poinsettias, red hibiscus, and a bush of "candles of the Lord."

Another of these also bushes, a very large one aflame with the pointing "candles" is in the grounds of the annex to the courthouse, glorious natural decorations.

Saw Mrs. Dora Glines luncheon with little 3-year-old Joan Glines at a table centered with a Santa Claus in red coat talking to a red kewpie, and the little voice chattered away about these lovely objects beloved of little children. Truly a beautiful grandmother and lovely golden-haired brown-eyed baby.

That charming lady, Ethel Walker, has many interesting people who call on her at the city library. Among these lately was that writer of verse from Glendale, Lola Sanblom, noted in London and America for her beautiful "songs."

Meeting Miss Sanblom, one is impressed by her sincerity, and her brown eyes look as though they see beauty everywhere and reproduce it.

At the opening of a modernized cafe, I saw among others that much-loved lady, Marguerite Borgmeyer, almost surrounded by lovely flowers, that nice couple, the Mac McClains, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow. Mrs. Snow is a past president of the Musical Arts club and a most charming personality.

Several very attractive women in stunning formal made pretty pictures recently at a lovely affair. There were Mrs. H. W. Leeling in blue with touches of cherry red, Mrs. H. J. Howard in blue lace, Mrs. R. G. Morgan in flame taffeta with silver cloth jacket, Mrs. Lawrence Young in turquoise satin with puffed sleeves.

Other pretty frocks were Julia Magill in "off-white" satin with little black velvet bolero, Dr. Magill in black satin with little pink jacket, Mrs. H. G. Carlin in black velvet with diamond clasps, and Dr. Julia Hinrichs in pink lace with girldle and corsage of blue.

When Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hatfield of Tustin drove me to Placentia to call on their old friend, A. T. Wallop, I found a remarkable instance of the Christmas spirit. Each year the 94-year-old man makes 200 or more wooden toys from box wood to give away to little children. Most of the gifts go to unfortunates who would not receive others, at Christmas time. His work shop on the home lot of his son, William Wallop, is full of toys, stored on shelves, doll furniture, drays, carts drawn by horses, dogs, birds, and elephants, all carved by the old man and painted by him.

He has never worn glasses, except for reading, and has been stone deaf since he was 16 years of age. But he learned to read lips, and is happy with his work as a generous assistant to Santa Claus.

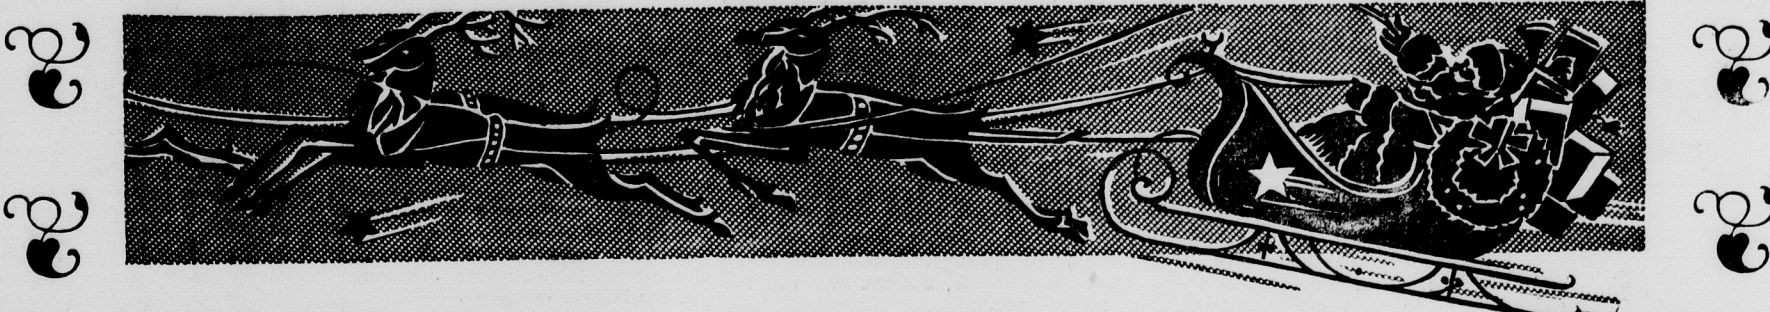

That petite blonde bride, Mrs. Weston Sprague (Marjorie Lind say) will leave most of her lovely wedding gifts and household treasures in trust with her family, taking with her only enough to make their Boston apartment homelike and more comfortable the short time they will be away.

Have you ever noticed on our streets the many white-haired ladies with attractive and young faces? There are Mrs. Charles Bressler, Mrs. Sue Shafer, Hazel Newman, Martha Whitson, Suzanne Claycomb, and Frankie Plumb. In every case the lovely hair adds beauty and distinction.

LAST MINUTE GIFT SUGGESTIONS!

THERE'S NOTHING TOO GOOD FOR YOUR HOME

CONSIDERING the many years of service which you may anticipate from furniture gifts, the cost is far less than the sum which is usually spent for useless gifts and presents of only passing interest to yourself and your family. If you're still on the fence as to what your family gift will be this year, just go down to CHANDLER'S, Main at Third, and your decision will be made. Let furniture be your choice this Christmas.

Everything for the Home

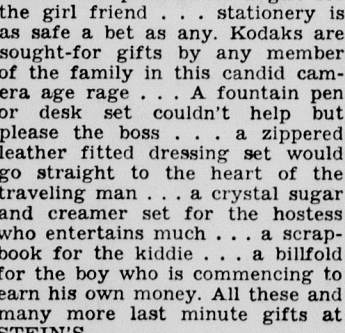

CHANDLER'S spacious floors house everything to make your home more livable and comfortable. Nowhere in Orange county will you find such a complete selection of furnishings, all of the highest quality. . . . all from time honored manufacturers. Including draperies and Venetian blinds to decorate your windows. . . . pictures to adorn your walls. . . . lamps to cast their cheery glow. . . . living room suites to make entertaining a pleasure. . . . dining room suites which are a credit to the meals you serve. . . . bedroom suites and comfortable mattresses for the room in which you spend a third of your lifetime. . . . cedar chests to safeguard linens and woollens against the enemy moth. . . . odd tables and magazine racks to lend personality to the home. . . . Hotpoint refrigerators to preserve food and protect the family's health. . . . electric stoves for cooking and heating purposes. . . . gas stoves to make the home comfortably warm. . . . other appliances to lift the drudgery out of life, and many other home furnishings for the room to mention. There's still time to purchase any of these at CHANDLER'S, Main at Third.

AT SCULLEN'S

FRAGILE yet durable are the fastidious feminine nighties at SCULLEN'S. . . the most beautiful I've seen yet. Fashioned from a beautiful quality of satin, they are in a price range of $4.95 to $7.50, and appear in the tempting shades of peach, vanity (which is a luscious rose tone), banana heart, white, aqua, turquoise and turquoise. Some are frothy with lace. . . . others are tailored long sleeved models in hostess gown effect. Lovely as an evening dress was a shining white satin, lace trimmed with net insertion at the bodice, and lace at the hemline. . . . Another was wispy printed chiffon, accented with cherry velvet sash.

YOUR LAST MINUTE

SHOPPING expedition means that you'll have to have more wrapping paper and trimmings, so you might as well get them now. At STEIN'S, of course, 307 W. Fourth St. STEIN'S still have a good assortment of these handsome wrappings, and the source of their great supply of Christmas cards seems never ending. . . . there's still time to send some to those almost forgotten. Then there's the problem of a gift for the girl friend. . . . stationery is as safe a bet as any. Kodaks are sought-for gifts by any member of the family in this candid camera age. . . . A fountain pen or desk set couldn't help but please the boy. . . . a zippered leather fitted dressing set would go straight to the heart of the traveling man. . . . a crystal sugar and creamer set for the hostess who entertains much. . . . a scrapbook for the kiddie. . . . a billfold for the boy who is commencing to earn his own money. And there are many more last minute gifts at STEIN'S.

THE BEAUTY

OF BUYING your last minute gift purchases at HART'S, 211 N. Broadway, is that you get them expertly gift wrapped at no extra cost. It's typically feminine that SHE should want a piece of Spode, whether it's to add to her rapidly accumulating set, or to have that she can boast its possession, or simply because of its sheer beauty and the romanticism in its making. Chocolate sets and after dinner coffee sets are something every one isn't privileged to possess, and in beautiful Francis can ware, are an inspirational gift to any real hostess. There are ash trays and cigarette boxes for men, porridge sets for baby, and casseroles and mixing bowls for the culinary artist.

HERE'S A HINT

TO THE last minute shoppers who have put off the trying buying of gifts for fastidious friends. At FAIRMAC STUDIO, 116 S. Sycamore, are lovely old bits of antique glassware which would add charm to any home. . . . And though it's a bit early for new resolutions, resolve to greet the New Year with your home freshened up a bit. It takes so little when done the FAIRMAC way. Furniture refinished, a reupholstered chair or suite, a gay new bedspread made to your order, windows freshly framed in new drapes, and newest of all. . . . your personal monogram applied to any piece of furniture.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

AT THE HOME CAFE, 304 N. Broadway, this year will be served between the hours of 11:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. So any time you choose to dine, drop in and enjoy a marvelous meal for a dollar.

GIFT CENTER SUPREME

A GIFT of a piece of Sterling silver will go straight to the heart of its recipient. . . a welcome suggestion to the last-minute shopper. Choose it at TROTTS, Fifth and Sycamore, and while you're there, see their interesting novelty table. . . . Imports of cigarette boxes and matching ash trays from Italy. . . . bits of brass and cloisonne from China. Also hostess sets featuring automatic toasters, powder boxes, bookends, ladies' dresser sets and men's dressing kits in leather zipper cases, ideal for travel. There are carving sets to match practically any silver service. . . . fountain pens and matching pencils, and desk pens. . . . evening bags and glamorous jewelry of all sorts, including lockets, crosses, bracelets and rings. . . . Watches for every member of the family. . . . clocks for every room in the house. . . . cut glass and crystal, fashionable blue glassware, beverage sets and many more appealing gifts at TROTTS.

LUXURIOUS NECESSITIES

THERE'S NO more acceptable gift anywhere for Milady than the luxurious necessity of silk hosiery. . . . And no one has as large an assortment of brands as RANKIN'S. . . . each brand with some outstanding feature. Hummingbird features the new high-tone shades with such fascinating names as Swank, Glitter, Life, Intendant, along with Smoke and Gypsy. . . . No Mend has that remarkable two-way stretch top. . . . Rollins shoes are popular because of their lace tops with run stop and will not run from garters. . . . There has a wonderful quality service weight for more practical wear, and is the only brand which features outsize noted for wearability and fine quality.

EVER ADDING

DELIGHTFULLY new stock to its fascinating store, PACIFIC POTTERY YARD, 1911 N. Main, has a complete line of gifts for the hurried last minute shoppers. Newest of all are the colorful fringed luncheon sets of desert cloth in true desert tones. . . . an ideal background for pottery, particularly the graceful new sun-kissed Coralitos ware. . . . Other splendid gifts are the Mexican adorned wall plaques, wooden trays and whatnots, pottery chop platters, vases, mixing bowls and casseroles, bean pots and tea pots, coffee sets with matching salt and peppers.

SOMETHING SHE'D ADORE

RECEIVING, but something she wouldn't spurge on for herself. . . . a Helena Rubinstein gift of glamour, the answer to the problem of the last minute shopper. . . . Available only at McCOY DRUG STORE, Fourth at Broadway. . . . Exquisite Town and Country ensembles in perfume, toilet water, bath powder and compact.

FOR APPETIZING TURKEY

YOU'LL want to be justly proud of your Christmas turkey this year. . . . you'll want it beautifully browned and done to a turn. Why not place it in the hands of an expert by taking it to COOK'S BONTON BAKERY, 310 W. Fourth St. Take it in not later than 9 a. m. Saturday and get it at 12:30. It's time now to order your Christmas rolls and pies as well as purchase your Christmas cookies and fruit cakes.

FASHION CHATTER

They're almost over. . . . those hectic last days of shopping, and only two remain before Christmas. It's been loads of fun though, hasn't it? Every one this year seems so full of the real Christmas spirit of giving and so rightly sure that "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Santa Ana's stores have never been more beautiful nor stocked with more wonderful merchandise than this year.

We're all guilty of last minute shopping. . . . it's part of the game of Christmas, and no matter how hard we try, there are always some almost-forgotten. So in these columns this week you will find some last minute shopping suggestions offered by some of our leading merchants, which may soothe your perplexed mind.

So hurry, hurry, else Santa and his fleet footed reindeer overtake you, and give one last check to the worn shopping list, just for good measure. Don't forget details for your Christmas dinner, and if you're dining out, these columns will point the way to the best places of resort.

Let's remember through it all, Him Whose birthday we observe on Saturday, and offer a silent tribute for our thankfulness. . . . And now may I take opportunity here to wish merchants and subscriber-readers alike a most MERRY CHRISTMAS! And I'll be seeing you in the last minute shopping scramble.

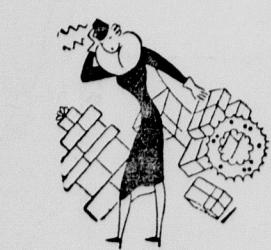

MIRIAM SMITH

FOR THE last minute shopper to find that every single pair of corduroy lounging pajamas at HART'S (The Friendly Store), 306 N. Sycamore, where there's a substantial reduction up until Christmas. They are in a wide variety of sizes and smart colors and may now be purchased in a price range of $3.95 to $7.50. . . . It's such fun buying things for little tots, especially at HART'S, where there's such a tempting selection. There are flannel and silk pajamas, just like the "grownups," adorable rompers and hand trimmed dresses for the wee misses in sizes of one to six. Also hand finished "Shirley" silk frocks in dainty pastel tints, as well as fine lawns. And for the very young, there are shoes, booties, blankets, toys, hot water bottles and undies and many more tiny costing details.

AT SWANSON'S DRIVE-INN

YOU may have any entree you like for your Christmas dinner. . . . Turkey, chicken, steak or baked Virginia ham. . . . with all the trimmings including hot biscuits. . . . served with any dessert you prefer. . . . including hot mince pie with brandy sauce, pumpkin pie (all home made) or plum pudding. . . . served at any hour you desire from 11 a. m. on. You may have all these privileges if you eat on Christmas day at SWANSON'S DRIVE-INN, 1807 N. Main.

WE ALL LIKE TO EAT GOOD FOODS

So we can't go wrong by giving a delicious fruit cake for Christmas from EATON'S BAKERY in the center of the Grand Central Market. EATON'S certainly looks Christmas with its gingerbread Santa Clauses, frosted animal crackers, and red and green inscribed Christmas cookies. Their pies, cakes and turnovers will sumptuously top off your Yule day dinner.

THE PERFECT TRIBUTE

TO HER on Christmas day is that unspoken sentiment versed in flowers. The BOUQUET SHOP, 409 N. Broadway, have a fragrant assortment to fill your every need, including potted plants of cyclamen in various hues, potted carnations and azaleas, potted poinsettias and dracenae. A bouquet of cut flowers would not go amiss, and a corsage would be fittingly climax that holiday feeling.

SPECIAL ATTENTION

IS GIVEN to last minute shoppers at the LA GRACE SHOPPE, 413 N. Sycamore, where stocks have been replenished with appealing femininities. See their new dresses arriving daily in spring modes.

CRIME SHOWS INCREASE IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Though assault on murder cases decreased in California during the first eleven months of the year as compared to the same period in 1936 there was a general increase in crimes reported.

The year's record up until Dec. 1 showed a total of 34,765 cases. There was a total of 30,122 for the same months last year.

The state division of criminal identification and investigation reported 3126 cases in November.

So far there have been 59 assault on murder cases as compared with 78 a year ago. Of these 10 were committed during the last month. Burglaries stood far ahead with 21,381 on the records or approximately 2000 more than in 1936.

Gospel Assembly Puts on Play

A special Christmas program will be given at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Full Gospel assembly, 1600 West Third street, according to the Rev. Ernest L. Friend, pastor. "The Story of the Christ" is the title of a play to be presented, and treats will be given to all the children.

Prominent Realty Man Passes On

Charles G. Seamans, 77, well-known real estate agent of Santa Ana, died at his home, 2322 North Broadway, Tuesday morning, after a lengthy illness. He had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 20 years.

Mr. Seamans was born in Burlington, Iowa, and came to California in 1917. He was a member of the local First Methodist church during his residence here, and the Rev. Henry Irving Rasmus, Jr., pastor of the church, will conduct the services at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Winbigler chapel.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie A. Seamans; two daughters, Mrs. Frankie Baird of Santa Ana and Mrs. Mary A. Elliott of Orange; one brother, Bert B. Seamans of Santa Ana; and three grandchildren, James, Charles, and William Elliott.

Sunday School in Christmas Program

Sunday school students of the Orange Avenue Christian church will present a special Christmas program in the church at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 23. Special music, readings, and a play will be presented, with Miss Phyllis Gerrard as program chairman.

O'CONNOR MAY ENTER STATE RACE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Now that Pierson M. Hall has eliminated himself as a prospective gubernatorial candidate by announcing for Senator McAdoo's senate seat, Californians here look for an early statement from J. T. F. O'Connor definitely placing him in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Individuals who make it a point to keep informed say O'Connor, who has just about made up his mind to toss in his hat and that it may be seen sailing into the ring most any day now.

On no less authority than that of the comptroller himself, it can be stated definitely meanwhile that he will announce his decision "after the turn of the year."

Whether it will put him in or take him out of the race, O'Connor won't tell reporters not even "off the record."

"It's a matter that's still developing," he said this week.

"It is a fact, however," he added, "that after the turn of the year a definite decision has got to be made. My friends are entitled to know my decision, and others who are considering entering the race are entitled to know it. Frankly I have come to no final decision yet."

RACE TRACK FILM AT STATE

The glamour and excitement of the country's race tracks—Saratoga in the east, Santa Anita in the west, and everything down to country fair circuits in between—pervade the newest of the movies dealing with the ponies—"Wine, Women and Horses," at the State theater today and Thursday. "Saturday's Heroes," is an associate feature.

In "Wine, Women and Horses," Barton MacLane, departing from his usual role of hard mugs, a cruel villain, this time is a sympathetic hero. He's a race-track enthusiast and a gambler, to be sure, but you can't help liking him.

Peggy Bates is a small-town girl with an aversion to racing and all it implies; Ann Sheridan is a fellow-enthusiast and fellow gambler with MacLane. Who wins him? Look at the picture and see. A football picture with a new angle. That, in few words, is the idea behind "Saturday's Heroes," stirring dramas of college athletes. The angle, which is tackled with the same hard-fisted vigor that an all-American linesman uses in taking a rival quarterback out of play, is professionalism in college sport. Movie-makers have generally ignored the subject, just as if no one doubted the majority of varsity teams were simon-pure amateurs.

"Little Jack Horner," a cartoon and "Nobody Home," a pictorial completes the bill at the State theater.

Imperial Canal Workers Strike

EL CENTRO. (AP)—A group of 80 cement and steel workers were on strike today on the Pilot Knob part of the All-American canal, but no disorders developed and work continued.

The strikers quit yesterday, demanding a closed shop, and immediately established picket lines.

In Opera

Seventeen-year-old Beverly Lane, pretty and talented singer, made her debut as Gilda in "Rigoletto" in Chicago's magnificent Civic opera house.

Every Psychologist Gets One Kick

CHICAGO. (AP)—Prof. John J. B. Morgan, Northwestern university child psychology expert, won dismissal on assault and battery charges today when he apologized to an irate mother who accused him of kicking her 10-year-old son.

Dr. Morgan told Mrs. Joseph Sherrie in suburban Evanston police court he believed her Donald was about to throw ice at his automobile.

KAY FRANCIS FILM CLOSES

Tonight the West Coast theater will present for the last times the sparkling new comedy, "First Lady," starring Kay Francis in a light, subtle characterization.

"First Lady" offers entertainment of a rare and cheerily humorous kind. It tells the story of backstage politics in Washington, without being partisan, and as the better columnists picture it. Hair-trigger repartee and delightfully humorous situations mark the film, which has a cast that includes Preston Foster, Anita Louise and Walter Connolly.

The second attraction on the bill closing tonight at the West Coast is "Love on Toast."

Tomorrow the West Coast opens with a new program, presenting "Rosalie," the outstanding film featuring Nelson Eddy, Eleanor Powell, Frank Morgan and Edna Mae Oliver, with a second feature, "Thank You, Mr. Moto," a novel and entertaining film with Peter Lorre, Thomas Beck, Pauline Frederick and John Carradine.

14th Epidemic Death Reported

CHICAGO. (AP)—Baby Edmund Wozniak died in St. Elizabeth's hospital today, the 14th victim of a baffling type of epidemic diarrhea which attacked the infant ward late last month.

The babe had been taken home a week ago, apparently recovered, but suffered a relapse and was returned to the hospital.

Bacteriologists and pathologists, seeking further knowledge of the disease, have inoculated 16 monkeys with serums prepared from the blood of the victims.

New York Taxi Strike Spreads

NEW YORK. (AP)—A spreading strike of taxicab drivers with the CIO threatening a city-wide tie-up during the Christmas rush called Mayor F. H. LaGuardia into action for peace today.

The mayor appointed Nathan Frankel, his counsel on labor relations, as mediator, after the Sunshine Radio System Inc. had appealed for steps to prevent violence.

MARSH SCENES IN 'DR. SYN'

Location crews that penetrate the jungles of Africa, or climb the mighty Himalayas, have nothing on the Gaumont unit which filmed exterior sequences in the Kentish marshes for the new George Arliss starring vehicle, "Dr. Syn," which will be on the screen with "Breakfast for Two" at the Walker's theater, today, Thursday and Friday.

Never more than five miles from civilization, the location troupe, including several of the principal players, braved all the hardships and perils of the jungles, working knee-deep in mud and risking passage through perilous quicksands.

Britain's gambling fever, the human heart and Alaska's salmon war are among the interesting "March of Time" to be presented items pictured in the issue of on this program, together with a picture concerning radium, and a newsreel.

The South American llama, a useful beast of burden, can carry 100 pounds.

Coffee Heiress Divorces Husband

REDWOOD CITY. (AP)—In a five minute hearing, Mrs. Elena Folger McNear of Hillsborough, daughter of the late Ernest R. Folger, coffee merchant, won an uncontested divorce yesterday from Cyril McNear.

The McNears were married July 2, 1925, and separated Dec. 3, 1936. McNear, who was graduated from Harvard university, is the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McNear of San Francisco. He was a naval aviator during the World war.

Ex-Employees Cash In on Yule Bonus

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—The Binghamton branch of the Kroehner Manufacturing company will pay a Christmas bonus of $10 to persons it no longer employs.

The bonus will go to all those laid off since Oct. 1, even if they have obtained other employment.

The company said it will "give those who formerly were in our employ first consideration when additional help is required."

4 COLLEGIANS GO TO OXFORD

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Four collegians from as many Northwest states turned their scholastic sights toward Oxford university today with newly-won Rhodes scholarships.

Winners in the six-state competition of a dozen candidates here yesterday were:

Leigh Gerdin of Sheyenne, N. D., University of North Dakota; Grant McConnell, Portland, Ore., a graduate of Reed college and now at Harvard; Charles Jelink, Miles City, Mont., Montana State college, and Robert M. Muir, Laramie, Wyo., University of Wyoming.

Their two-year scholarships, carrying an annual stipend of approximately $2000, begin next fall.

The transmission of weather information by radioteletypewriter has been developed to a point where reliability equal to that obtained with land wire installations has been attained.

Santa Fe Will Spend 35 Million During 1938

NEW YORK. (AP)—Directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad approved today a budget of $35,192,802 for 1938, including the carryover from last year.

The budget includes additions and improvements to the carrier property.

Following the meeting of directors, S. T. Bledsoe, president, announced the appointment of Paul P. Hastings as vice president in charge of traffic, effective March 1, succeeding Fred B. Houghton, who is retiring after 53 years of service.

Bledsoe also announced the appointment of John J. Conn as general purchasing agent, succeeding the late M. J. Collins, effective Jan. 1.

The 1938 budget, which compares with a 1937 budget of $41,004,000, includes $7,221,049 chargeable to operating expenses, and salvage of $1,193,784.

FAKE COIN FLOODING ETHIOPIA

ROME. (AP)—Bootleg currency by the thousands of dollars' worth is being shipped into Ethiopia, impeding Italy's efforts to replace with Italian money the coin of ousted Emperor Haile Selassie's regime.

The semi-official Stefani News Agency reported that 100,000 new Thalers have been minted in Brussels on the order of certain Paris interests which are sending them into East Africa.

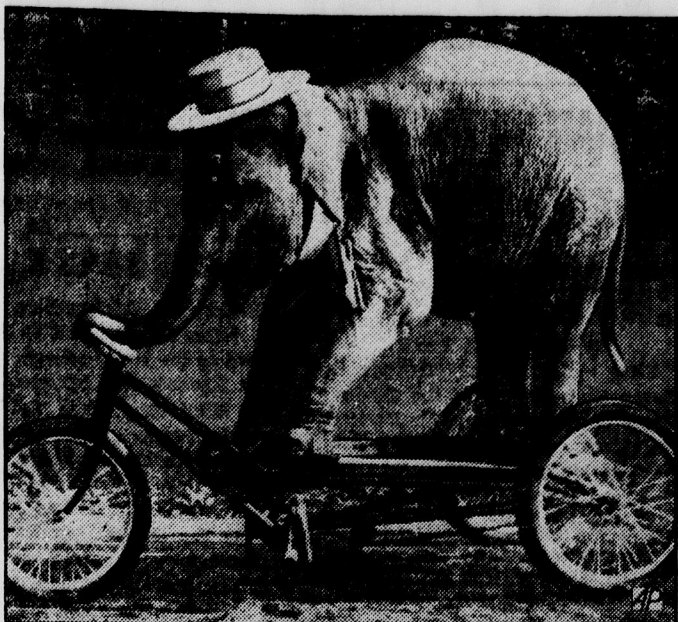

Apparently at the present low price of silver a considerable profit can be made by minting the silver coins and using them in trading with Ethiopian natives.

The big silver Thaler, or Maria Theresa dollar, still is the favored coin in many sections. Its "cart-wheel" size and weight impresses natives more than Italian currency.

Italy is seeking gradually to withdraw the Thaler and replace it with Italian money. Italian sources hint there may be a move against Italy behind the shipment of coins.

However, Premier Benito Mussolini himself had a large number of Thalers struck off in Italy when it was found they were more acceptable to tribesmen willing to sell out to Italy during the invasion of Ethiopia.

GUARANTY OIL WELL BLOWS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Shareholders in the Guaranty Liquidating Corporation were cheered today by news that the first oil well on its 16 acre tract in the El Segundo field has come into production.

The corporation is liquidating the assets of the Guaranty Building and Loan association of Hollywood, which collapsed with losses of $15,000,000.

Harold E. Murphy, president, cautioned shareholders, however, not to credit rumors that the successful drilling would mean they might ultimately be paid back dollar for dollar.

Dividends of more than $700,000 have been paid to date.

In this connection in Los Angeles territory.

He told of the practice in military circles to retire from service men when they reached the age of 60 and go on to the idea that the Townsend plan makes similar provision except that under Townsend plan retirement would mean a place of still great usefulness on the part of the elderly as mediums of placing money in circulation.

He painted in a word picture the gloriousness of the living privileges as would be general among the people with the Townsend plan in vogue. But in doing so he pointed out the hollowness of such a victory unless all classes of Americans could be blessed because of the Townsend law. He made plain, however, that the blessings of the Townsend plan would equally endow all Americans—that the plan was truly patriotic and would promote impartially the general welfare.

Col. Horton cited several prominent Americans who have recently expressed the idea that the need of America just now is an increased purchasing power on the part of the people but each in turn had admitted they did not know how to achieve it. He said, "Eventually they would come to endorse the Townsend plan as the way out." In conclusion he drew a beautiful word picture of America basking in the sunshine of plenty as result of the Townsend plan and in arranging for the meetings of labor groups to be addressed by Townsend lectures. He told of the progress being made send movement, as its first lady. He described the doctor's attitude toward those who had deserted his leadership for other organizational leadership as being similar to that of the master of men when he said, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do."

He described the situation existing among business men, members of labor unions, the great agricultural groups and generally in the nation as being opportune for Townsend movement advancement. Their extremity, he suggested, was conducive to promoting a willingness to listen to Townsend plan logic. He advocated the placing of Townsend speakers at the disposal of the various service clubs and in arranging for the meetings of labor groups to be addressed by Townsend lectures. At the request of Green the writer had the honor of presenting to the audience Mr. and Mrs. U. O. Ribble and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Horton from Los Angeles who were present in the audience.

Later the writer presented Col. Horton to the audience as the evening speaker pointing out the excellent service the speaker had rendered to the Townsend movement and the continuity of his Townsend plan principles.

Col. Horton began by complimenting Orange county on the splendid contribution which had been made to the national movement by its Townsend clubs and he paid particular compliments to the membership gains to which this column referred to in last night's Journal as having resulted from the Orange county membership drive contest. He spoke of a rumor afloat that Dr. Francis E. Townsend had been asked to pay a visit to the White House at Washington, D. C., but said the rumor could not be authenticated as yet as being founded on fact. The speaker in commenting said, "Someone, sometime is going to invite Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the greatest living American to the White House and it might possibly be that the honor would be President Roosevelt's but if not, then some other would in the not distant future." This remark evoked a great wave of applause from the audience.

The speaker described the Townsend movement as being in a more solid condition than ever before and credited much of the stable existence existing as having been inspired and created by the calm, serene, confident but tolerant spirit exhibited by the national founder. He told of Dr. Townsend's wife having been acclaimed as the sweetheart of the Town-

CANADA-U.S. SILVER PACT?

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A visit of Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian minister, to the treasury caused speculation today that Canada might be seeking some new silver arrangement with the United States.

Wayne C. Taylor, assistant secretary of the treasury, who received Sir Herbert, said, however, the purpose was merely to introduce Dr. Walter A. Riddell, new counselor of the Canadian legation.

Canada is one of the signatories to the London silver agreement which will expire Dec. 31 and which United States officials have said would not be renewed.

The United States is the principal purchaser of Canadian silver.

PAUL
WRIGHT

Joe Rodgers, nightball's most colorful figure, has turned to golf again. He posted a 77 over the Virginia Country club course in Long Beach the other day. . . . He definitely will be at the helm of the Huntington Beach Oilers when the 1938 season opens. . . . George Murray is keeping in condition by playing basketball in Long Beach, and Henry (Red) Tiers takes part in the floor sport at Huntington Beach. . . . Orville Schuchardt devotes his spare time to tennis, and Bob Smith to Sunday baseball. . . . Bill McKinley has been playing basketball in Taft, where he is now employed. . . . All of these boys will be under Rodgers' wing in nightball again.

I thought he was kidding me until I saw the newspaper clippings where Ed Saleh, Santa Ana man, scored 30 points for the San Pedro High school basketball club that blanketed Lomita, 91 to 0, for a state record back in 1925.

It is easier to picture a team scoring 91 points than it is to picture one going scoreless for four quarters. Saleh, who is employed by The Journal, recalls that Lomita had several opportunities to score on free throws, but missed the range just as they did on field goals. The team did score one point, but it was nullified because a Lomita player stepped into the free-throw circle too soon.

Perhaps the most expertly viewed game in football history will be the Santa Clara-Louisiana State tussle in New Orleans New Year's day.

Reason: The American Football Coaches' association and the National Collegiate Athletic association will be in session, which will insure attendance of some 2000 coaches and athletic directors.

TROY FIVE WINS 8TH STRAIGHT

HOUSTON, Texas. (AP)—Southern California's basketball Trojans headed home today after making a clean sweep of their eastern invasion. They won their eighth straight victory of the trip here last night from Rice institute, 43 to 37, after Rice had held the lead throughout most of the first half. Two baskets each by Ralph Vaughn and Dale Sears gave the Trojans the advantage at halftime, 22 to 17, and they held it during the rest of the game.

ROOKIES LEAD N. L. HURLING AVERAGES

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK. (AP)—With all due respect to Mr. Carl Hubbell, and the handy little trick he has of winning more ball games than anyone else, the rookies, and particularly 8-year-old Jim Turner, were the cream of the National League pitching crop for 1937.

As usual, the league's official flinging records, released today, showed there was pitching galore in the senior circuit. But the old timers, like Hubbell and Hal Schumacher of the pennant-winning Giants, or Dizzy Dean and Paul Berringer and Lon Warneke, didn't provide the major portion of evidence.

To be sure, the three generally accepted "greatest" elbowers in the business were well represented. Hubbell, topping the won-lost record, showed 22 victories against six defeats for a percentage of .733, and was the loop's strikeout king with 159 "kayo" victims, but he earned run average, the barometer by which pitching effectiveness is measured, slipped to 3.19 per inning game, compared to his pace-setting 2.43 in 1936.

VETERANS FALTER
And Dizzy (remember him?) Dean of the Cardinals and Van Mungo of the Dodgers, although well up in the earned run department, were somewhat less than world beaters in the won-lost column. In fact, Dizzy was about as useful as a carload of Charley Bees. He only led the earned-run averages, allowing 2.38 such tallies per nine innings. At that, he was only a little in front of Cliff Melton, the "other half" of the Giants' great southpaw combination, who wound up with 2.61.

Along with them were Russ Bauer, Pittsburgh's promising righthander, in fourth place with 2.87, and Turner's 31-year-old Boston "Sidekick," Lou Fette, with 2.88. All four combined to stand the senior circuit's batsmen on their collective heels. Turner, of them, pitched Melton and Fette—won 20 games each; the first rookies to turn in the "double-ten" victory performance since Grover Cleveland Alexander bowed into the big time in 1911. And, what's more, Melton, with 20 victories and nine defeats for a .690 percentage, was second only to Hubbell in that department. Hubbell's 22 wins gave him a record of 20-or-better for five straight years.

SEVEN UNDER MARK
The only break in the rookie ranks at the top of the earned run heap was the 2.70 third-place mark posted by Dizzy Dean. But, while Dizzy pitched 197 innings, when he wasn't arguing with Ford Frick or complaining about his score, he won 20 games and pitched 257 innings. Fette, 257 and Melton 243. Altogether, seven pitchers were under the three-earned-run average for the season. Trailing fifth-place Fette were Van Mungo, at 2.91 (but with only nine wins against 11 defeats) and Danny MacFayden, Boston's third reason for making a fight of the pennant chase. Danny had a 2.93.

With MacFayden as third man in that impressive flinging lineup, it was somewhat less than a push-over to keep those Boston Bees out of the first division. Setting the pace, Turner hurled 24 complete games, more than any other pitcher in the league. And he and Fette, along with Lee Grissom, Cincinnati's freshman "strong boy," deadlocked for whitewashing honors, each twirling five shutouts.

Industrial disputes during the fiscal year 1936-37 resulted in the loss of approximately 26 million man-days.

The Year In Sports: II Stanford Dominates Basketball As Center Jump Is Eliminated

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK. (AP)—Basketball, the game Dr. James Naismith fashioned from a peach basket and a soccer ball 46 years ago, underwent one of its most radical changes this year when the center jump was eliminated.

The rules committee legislated against the jump system of putting the ball into play at the start of each period and after a goal had been scored with the hopes it would do away with some of the advantage held by tall players.

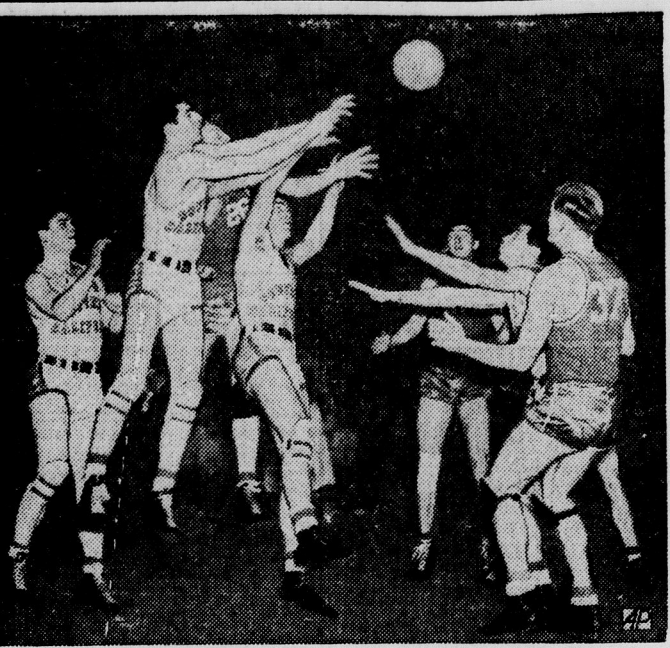

Early results this season have shown that it not only has done that but has speeded up the game until now a team's success may well depend on its reserve power.

No longer can five or six men step through a game at top speed, as there is no letup while the ball is being returned to the center circle, as in the past.

CURBS TALL PLAYERS
As an additional curb on tall players, the rules committee prohibited a player from reaching above the basket and tipping the ball out.

The committee also attempted to clarify the blocking and screening rule which has been interpreted differently in various sections. It ruled that a player is entitled to any unoccupied spot on the floor provided he takes the position three feet away from an opposing player and does not take the position with intentions of blocking a man with or without the ball.

tain and Southern Methodist the southwest.

Kansas, dominant in the Big Six, yielded a half-portion of the circuit's honors to Nebraska. With the famous McPherson Oilers split-up, the Denver Safeways exhibited plenty of speed and height to win the national A. A. U. championship.

'EAST-WEST' ACES DRILL

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Byron (Whizzer) White re-joined the Colorado university football team for today's practice session in preparation for its game with Rice Institute in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

White came here from San Francisco by plane after winning ahead "I need a workout." The Colorado squad went through two secret workouts yesterday. Coach Bunny Oakes said the sessions were devoted to fundamentals.

WAR ADMIRAL SHIPPED TO HIALEAH

BALTIMORE. (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle said today his War Admiral, champion son of Man-o-War, will be shipped to the Hialeah Park track at Miami next Tuesday.

Riddle, interviewed by telephone at Media, Pa., said George Conway, War Admiral's trainer, who has been ill, has recovered sufficiently to make the trip and resume training.

Riddle declined to say whether the Admiral would start in the $50,000 added Widener Challenge Cup at Hialeah March 5.

The owner of the Glen Riddle stables said he believed War Admiral could not successfully carry the 129 pounds imposed on him in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap. Possibility War Admiral running in the rich fixture at Arcadia is so remote that his odds are 20 to 1 in the winter book, with Seabiscuit the favorite at 6 to 1.

Belcastro Wrestles 'Black Dragon' in Feature Here

Rated one of the most powerful and ruthless of the junior heavyweight wrestlers, the unbeaten "Black Dragon" meets Pete Belcastro, claimant to the Pacific coast championship, tomorrow night in one of the two feature three-fall-to-a-finish matches billed at the Orange County Athletic club.

Making his debut last week, the "Black Dragon" won an unpopular decision over Frank Clements, called "wonder boy," when he took advantage of a break to score a pinner. Fans booed the "Dragon" for several minutes after the bout and included Col. Ted Hopkins, the referee, for permitting the Dragon to get away with the unsportsmanlike act.

The sensation of last week's show, Bobby Roberts, is billed to clash with Clements in the other three-fall-to-a-finish bout. Roberts made a big hit in scoring a straight fall triumph over the "Black Panther" Thursday.

Other bouts tomorrow night feature "Terrible Ted" Christy, known as "Crusty" because of his unreasonable demands, meets Pop-eye (The Sailor) O'Brien and Duke Pettigrove faces Frank Taylor, the Robert Taylor of matdom.

BOWL ELEVENS IN THICK OF TRAINING

By Associated Press

Easy goes it at California. Coach Stub Allison of the Golden Bears is going to keep his Pacific Coast champions' practice confined to his own squad.

Allison turned down a suggestion that his team, which is preparing for its Rose Bowl date with Alabama, scrimmage against the eastern all stars, who are training at Berkeley for the East-West game.

Instead the Bears scrimmaged lightly against reserves and freshmen yesterday. Allison pointed out that a scrum with the talented Easterners would be a risky business at this stage of the game.

Assorted groups of "Spartans," "Crimson Tides" and "Mountaineers" were out on the highways and byways headed for Bowl games, while other groups dug in near the scene of the cowhide carnivals yesterday.

Here's a roundup of other late developments:

Rose Bowl—Alabama's boys stopped off in New Orleans on their way to Pasadena, said gangling Hayward Sanford, the end who booted the tide into the Bowl with timely field goals. "I don't know much about place kicking." This should knock 'em in the aisles at Tulane and Vanderbilt, beaten by Sanford's toe.

Sugar Bowl—Bernie Moore, Louisiana State coach, was mildly satisfied with his team's first scrimmage for the Santa Clara encounter. "They looked okay," said Moore, "considering it's the first work they've done since the Tulane game."

Santa Clara's hopes for victory against the Tigers slumped with the news that an x-ray of Full-back Everett Fisher's leg showed an incomplete fracture of a small bone. The news upset the eleven, otherwise in fairly good shape, as it went through one of its last drills on the Coast.

Cotton Bowl—Coach Jimmy Kitts, with Colorado's all-America Whizzer White in mind, forced his backs to top speed against the Rice line yesterday. He made his ace, Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill, run their tongues out battering the line. Then he told Red Vickers, Johnny Neece and Doug Sullivan, other backs, to outdo Lain and Cordill.

The line, inspired by Kitts' whispered instructions, stopped all five. Kitts hopes they can turn the trick against Colorado and Orange Bowl—Charlie Bach-white at Dallas New Year's Day, man, coach of Michigan State, which meets Auburn New Year's Day is a bit perturbed about tales

Honor Crawford, Roquet, Musick

All-Southern California recognition on the football field was the reward today for three Santa Ana athletes—Russell Roquet and Joe Crawford of the junior college and Bill Musick of the high school.

The Kiwanis club banquet, spread for more than 500 in the Los Angeles Elks' temple last night, was the occasion for the announcement of first-team awards by the all-Southern California board of football.

Musick, who fullbacked the Saints to the Citrus Belt league championship, was moved to a halfback on the all-Southern California team to make room for Pomona's great back, Harry Karns.

Tackle Roquet and Guard Crawford, Eastern J. C. conference all-stars, were the only Dons honored on the first string, but Quarterback Blas Mercurio was chosen on the second.

Gold medals were awarded players chosen on the first teams. Official certificates were presented all players.

The selections, based on recommendations received from coaches, officials and sports writers throughout the Southland, follow:

LIGHT DRILLS RESUMED BY ALLISON TEAM

By ROBERT MYERS

PASADENA. (AP)—Two Pacific Coast conference football coaches—one Rose Bowl veteran, the other still hoping—viewed the coming California-Alabama clash today and picked the Golden Bears to win.

One was Hefty Claude (Tiny) Thornhill, who guided Stanford into the annual New Year's day classic three times. The Stanford lost two, won one, and one of the defeats was at the hands of a team rolling westward today for another spin at a wheel which has been kind in the past—the Crimson Tide of Alabama.

Said Tiny, pulling at a big cigar and probably thinking back to the year 1935 when a fleet-footed, pass-tossing lad named Dixie Howell wrecked his vow boys, 29 to 13:

"Alabama seems to always have a good team. They must have a good team this year, or else they couldn't have built up such a good record."

"But—" Thornhill paused. Maybe he was thinking of a recent date when his gallant Stanford fell before the Golden Bears in the annual "big game" up north, 13 to 0.

"I believe California has too much power for Alabama," he concluded.

Tall, raw-boned Bill Spaulding, who hopes to sometime send his Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles into the Bowl—via the players' entrance—looked wisely at the ceiling before committing himself. He made a prediction with reservations.

"Personally, California looked mighty good the day I saw them (he was talking about the day Cal dusted off his Bruins, 27 to 14) and I wouldn't be surprised to see the boys win over Alabama."

"But you never can tell about those teams from the South. They build up a tremendous amount of spirit, and that means a lot in a football game."

BEARS SCORE FOUR TIMES IN PRACTICE

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Coach L. B. (Stub) Allison offered the gloomy opinion that his Golden Bears were "way off form," and may require a two-a-day practice schedule next week to get in shape for the Rose Bowl date with Alabama New Year's Day.

However, the unbeaten Pacific Coast conference champions appeared in overtime scoring form yesterday when they rolled up four touchdowns against the second team in a 50-minute scrimmage. All-America Right Half Sam Chapman scored twice. Halfback Vic Bottari and Fullback Dave Anderson each added a touchdown. All scores were made on ground plays.

Six Captains to Perform Against West's Eleven

On the Eastern all-star grid squad, to play the Western all-stars New Year's day in San Francisco, will be these six captains of their college teams. Left to right: Don Heap, Northwestern; Andy Bershak, North Carolina; Marcel Chesbro, Colgate; Ralph Wolf, Ohio State; John Michelosen, Pittsburgh; and Richard Riffle, Albright.

WARD, PENHALL FIVES CLASH

The tilt between Montgomery Ward's club and Penhall's of Westminster at 9 o'clock tonight takes the spotlight in the Y. M. C. A. basketball tripleheader. Southern Counties Gas company and Patterson's Dairy open hostilities at 7 o'clock, with Bar Lumber company and the Excelsior Creamery matched at 8 in the battle for the cellar championship of the league.

Will Dolman, first string end, suffered a twisted leg in the affair but the injury was not considered serious. He was back in the game after a few minutes' rest.

The scrimmage was a surprise to the players and observers, who expected fundamentals to be stressed all week. Allison planned more scrimmage for today.

WRESTLING

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Maurice Robert, 210, Montreal, defeated Chuck Montana, 205, Detroit, straight falls.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—George Koverly, 218, Hollywood, Cal., defeated Reb Russell, 220, Texas, two of three falls.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Dorve Roche, 220, Decatur, Ill., threw Shiniki Shikuma, 205, Japan (straight falls).

SAN FRANCISCO.—Ivan Rasputin, 215, Russia, defeated Pat O'Shocker, 247, Salt Lake City, straight falls.

Others on the All-Stars from local collegiate ranks include Ernie Smith and Gil Kuhn of U. S. C. and Fred Funk and Joe Keeble of U. C. L. A.

THREE TROJANS BECOME PROS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Three players from U. S. C.'s 1937 varsity, Owen Hansen, Bill Radovich and Nick Pappas, have joined an all-star professional football team which will meet the undefeated Los Angeles Bulldogs at Gilmore stadium Sunday.

Others on the All-Stars from local collegiate ranks include Ernie Smith and Gil Kuhn of U. S. C. and Fred Funk and Joe Keeble of U. C. L. A.

Flaherty 'Medicine Man' of Redskins' Pro Grid Champs

By DILLON GRAHAM

WASHINGTON. (AP)—This isn't heresy, for we echo every adjective uttered about Sammy Baugh and Cliff Battles, but the boys are puppets.

Highly talented marionettes are they, juggled on a string by a chap as freckled-faced as Tom Sawyer.

No matter how powerful a machine may be, someone has to wind it up, set its direction and touch it off. And 33-year-old Ray Flaherty, the coach, built and engineered the triumphant Washington Redskins professional gridiron thunderbolt.

This modest, lanky redhead took an exceptional college passer and transformed him into a devastating runner, a sure blocker and a sharpshooter who could pitch as accurately on the dead run as from a flat-footed stance. He teamed him with a graceful speedster, who had power along with elusiveness, and produced the hottest outfit football saw in 1937.

It was Flaherty who made this Washington team, a mediocre club a month ago, the terror of the gridiron, one that hurled three of pro football's strongest clubs—the Green Bay Packers, the New York Giants, and the Chicago Bears—to win the world championship.

Sammy Baugh was a headline name, one to attract the crowds, but after a few superlative performances, professional rivals found Baugh was just a passer. So they'd drift back to "letting his bombs" instead of charging. Without Baugh's passing as a threat, Cliff Battles was valueless as a runner.

Flaherty taught Baugh to block and tackle and run. He was an adept pupil and, almost overnight, the Redskins became formidable. Flaherty devised a single wing-back formation, which permitted Battles to run, and called for Baugh to lug the ball. He changed Baugh's passing technique. Out of the short punt formation, Baugh had always thrown the ball from a flat-footed position. Baugh learned to fade and fake and throw on the run.

So while conceding the greatness of Baugh and Battles, we rise to doff our chapeau to Flaherty.

He won the eastern championship in his first year as a coach and took the "World Series" his second. You'll recall it was Flaherty who outsmarted the Bears a few years ago and brought the Giants the championship by raiding a lockerroom for basketball shoes that enabled the Giants to keep their footing while the Bears were skidding on an ice-covered field.

Los Angeles Open Purse to Exceed $5000 for Pros

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Backers of the Los Angeles open golf tournament broached plans today to attract crowds larger than ever before.

One move, good news to the crack professional golfer brigade, was the announcement that all gate receipts over and above the guarantee of $5000 will be thrown into the purse.

Paid attendance has never fallen below $5000, and in rich years amounted to considerably more.

The Los Angeles Times, sponsoring the event, made it plain that it wanted no profit out of the venture.

In the event total cash amounts exceeded $8000, however, the surplus would be placed into a special fund for future golf activities.

The tournament will be staged over the Griffith Park course, scene of the last Los Angeles open.

FRED PURNER QUILTS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fred Purner, head of the Santa Anita press relations department since the track opened in 1934, will relinquish the job Jan. 1 and take up similar duties with the new Hollywood baseball club. Purner formerly was associated with the San Francisco Seals.

SIMMS-BRAY DRAW VOTED BY REFEREE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Referee Jack Kennedy shouldered all responsibility today for calling a 10-round draw between veteran Eddie Simms of Cleveland and Big Boy Bray, lanky Los Angeles negro heavyweight.

Kennedy ignored "unofficial" judges at the ringside at the Olympic auditorium last night and made his own decision. For the past several weeks the "judges" have been voting with the referee, and the decision handed down accordingly.

The two judges, it was learned after Kennedy left the ring, thought Bray had won the bout. A ninth-round knockdown, which left Simms floundering in bad shape, was the convincing point.

Simms came back gamely, and made it a wild slugfest match in the final heat, but Bray's heavy blows again found their mark.

Simms weighed 198, Bray 204.

The titles of the regiments comprising the famous Light Brigade of Tennyson's poem are the 4th, 8th, 11th and 13th Hussars and 17th Lancers.

AN OPEN STATEMENT OF OUR BUSINESS POLICY

By ADOLPH BURMAN,
President of A-1 Cleaners & Dyers

Due to the increase in the volume of our business, because of our low prices, excellent work, and satisfactory service during the past two years, we have given employment to nine additional people in our Dry Cleaning Plants.

We are paying all of our employees good living wages (in most cases higher than Union Scales demand).

To the best of our knowledge, we have absolutely no dissatisfied workers (with the exception of one woman whom we believe was planted in our plant by outside interests, and who constituted the one worker strike which precipitated the present picket line).

Because of our large volume and due to the efficiency of our plant we are able to show a net profit of 33 1/2 per cent on our total business while passing on to our customers huge savings in the form of low dry cleaning prices. (I will submit our company books to audit to substantiate this percentage).

AN OPEN CHALLENGE

To any association or organization which attempts coercive price fixing in the dry cleaning industry by the use of the subterfuge of manufactured labor trouble!

WE CHALLENGE YOU TO SHOW TO THE PUBLIC

1. Why the purchasers of dry cleaning in Orange County should be made to pay in the form of high fixed prices for the mistakes and inefficiency or greediness for exorbitant profits by some members of the dry cleaning industry.
2. Why any dry cleaner should be made to force an increase of $20 to $30 on the annual dry cleaning bill of the average citizen with price increases ranging from 25 to 75 per cent.
3. Why we must tell our valuable employees who have worked for us for years, that they must pay tribute to an outside organization, or we will be forced to dispense with their services.
4. That there is no collusion between a Labor Union and a Dry Cleaners' Association which was formed for the purpose of fixing prices.
5. Whether this so called strike was precipitated for the purpose of raising the standards of working conditions within our plant or for the purpose of forcing us to raise our retail prices.

REPUBLICANS PREPARE FOR BIG FIGHT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Republican party battle lines in forthcoming elections are expected to be drawn at a conference of Southern California and Arizona party leaders with National Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton here Wednesday.

The conference has been called by Lawrence Cobb, secretary of the California Republican state central committee, at the suggestion of Hamilton.

National Committeeman Earl Warren of Oakland and National Committeewoman Edith F. Van de Water of Long Beach, and Justice Cramer of Orange, chairman of the state committee, are expected to attend.

Secretary Cobb said that county chairmen of the southern counties would be invited, and also the California Republican assembly and Young Republicans of California will be asked to send representatives.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

FROM A READER'S POINT OF VIEW

Dear Mary Hampton.—After reading your answer to "Lanky Jane" in the Dec. 6th issue I just cannot resist writing you a line. For it so happens that I am in the tall class too—six foot two and three quarter inches in my stocking feet. Thanks to my parents I am well proportioned with broad shoulders and big enough head. Of course, people gape at me—but I do not consider myself tall—only other people short. I much prefer my height to these "dainty little" women, and am not ashamed—in fact, proud, and carry myself so. People have told my husband what a fine looking woman I am so why should I, or any tall woman, grieve over what we cannot alter?

I have tried to feel everything is for a purpose and since I was given a large body I try to make my soul correspond to it by being big in every respect. Nor do I try to dress "short." I do not wear flat heels nor let people talk me into wearing clothes that make my height if they are otherwise unbecoming.

So I say—more power to the tallies in women! Want to thank you for the most helpful hints gathered from your columns!

M. W.

Dear Mary Hampton.—Just want you to know that I have cut out and saved every article you have written this year. They are very helpful to refer to. Yours is the best feature of any woman's page. More power to you! Though I am not spending any more on my clothes, I feel better dressed from your help. Give us another article, sometime, on the common mistakes we make and tell us why they are wrong—kinds of correct accessories correct with certain materials, etc. I have a new muskrat coat but didn't know it was always sport fur. Sold us some more—we love it!

B. S.

Dear "Tallie"—Since you have enough money to buy a nice fur

'Your Honor, I Object!' Lawyer Sends Client Up

RIVERSIDE. (AP)—People who work around the courthouse were in something of a daze today over a lawyer's plea that his client be treated more severely than the probation officer recommended.

The probation report to Superior Judge G. R. Freeman recommended that Chester Sittion be given a three months' road camp coat. I really think it a wise investment for a business woman. It can go to work—then also trot out after work on the nicest date—and serve for evening as well! Since you like the moulded silhouette that is perfectly good and smart only do not let the skirt flare. Keep it in the spirit of the "Postillion" coat. And a caracul—the finest you can buy for the money—will be loveliest. Liking black and wearing it well, I would by all means have black in the fur. And to keep the coat distinctive you might have notched lapels and even double breasted effect—of course the same fur. Also high little pocket flaps!

sentence and two years' probation on a bad check charge.

"Your honor," said C. N. Mozley, counsel for Sittion, "I have read the report of the probation officer and wish to differ with his conclusions."

"I suggest the defendant be placed under five years' probation and given a good stiff sentence," Mozley explained he had been retained by Sittion's family, who desired the youth be "taught a good lesson."

Judge Freeman, however, followed the probation recommendation.

START SAVING NOW...

FOR THE DOWN PAYMENT ON YOUR HOME

MODERN, liberal home loan policies of Bank of America and the F.H.A. are enabling thousands of men and women to build their homes with only a relatively small investment. Actually, today you can build a home if you have only 20% of the value of the house and the lot. This means that if you have one-fifth, you may borrow the other four-fifths through Bank of America.

With a thousand dollars or even less you can build a modern small home. Save your "down payment" in a Bank of America savings account.

When you have acquired the down payment you may buy or build the home you want and the money you now spend for rent will meet the easy monthly payments.

servants, and relatives. Besides Mrs. Kellogg, survivors include Mrs. Burnham Harris and Mrs. Robert D. Clark, nieces, both of St. Paul; a sister, Mrs. Jean K. Austin and her daughter, Mrs. Seabury Stanton, both of New Bedford, Mass., and another niece, Mrs. John Bradshaw of Madison, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg had no children.

During his long career in public life, Kellogg served as United States senator from Minnesota, ambassador to the Court of St. James, secretary of state and judge of the world court. He was named to the latter two posts by former President Calvin Coolidge.

FUNERAL THURSDAY
It was while he was secretary of state that he joined Aristide Briand of France in authorship of the peace pact for which he was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1929.

He retired from the world court in 1935, after five years of service, and returned to his private law practice here.

Mrs. Kellogg announced funeral services would be held Thursday in the church of St. John the Evangelist. The body then will be sent to Washington for burial in the National cathedral. Plans for the Washington services have not been made, she said.

FALSE ANNOUNCEMENT
Dr. Lepak said the premature announcement of Kellogg's death 18 minutes before it actually occurred was prompted by a "condition not at all unusual in such cases."

"He had been in a coma since about noon Monday, with breathing very irregular," the physician said. "Sometimes it seemed to have stopped completely, and stimulants were administered. This seeming occurrence of death came frequently, and at 7:10 p. m. some member of the family circle reported to the press the patient had died."

HEALY DEATH PROBE DROPPED

Friday night of a son. His wife, still in University hospital, Culver City, was informed late yesterday of Healy's death.

The officers said Healy's friends told them they took him home after the celebration, and that he told a somewhat incoherent story of having become engaged in an argument and a fight outside the night club. They said Healy told them he went to a Hollywood hotel after the fight and was treated for his injuries. He then motored to a Beverly Hills hotel, from where the friends took him home.

The coroner said a cursory examination of the body showed a red, subcutaneous streak across Healy's left temple, possibly caused by a blow, and a deep gash above the left eye, which had been closed by two surgical clips. The left eyelid showed red bruising.

WOUNDS TREATED
Substantiation of Healy's account of the fight and his subsequent movements was indicated by the police officers, who said they learned from Dr. Sydney L. Weinberg of a Hollywood hospital that he treated the gash over the actor's injured eye.

"He was extremely incoherent," said Dr. Weinberg. "He had been drinking heavily. I gathered, however, that he did not know the name of the man with whom he said he had been fighting."

Jack Marcus, Healy's life-long friend and manager, said the actor spent Monday in bed, being seized frequently with convulsions, and often moaning deliriously about the fight. Early yesterday, Dr. La Monte was summoned, and it became known that Healy's condition was grave. Oxygen and glucose were administered and Dr. John Rudock, heart specialist, was summoned for consultation.

HEART ATTACK
At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Healy was seized with a heart attack. Dr. La Monte said. He lapsed into a coma at dawn and did not recover. Death occurred at 11:30 a. m. Marcus, the two physicians, and Healy's sister, Marcia Healy, were at the bedside.

Marcus said Healy was under the care of a bodyguard, Hymie Marx, last Sunday, but eluded him that night, went to the Trocadero, later appeared at another night spot where he borrowed $50, then went to the Hollywood Brown Derby, where friends saw him and called his sister, who persuaded him to call Dr. Weinberg and have his injuries treated.

Burro Wins Love of Crew On Liner

NEW YORK. (AP)—Most popular passenger on the liner California which docked today after a trip from the West Coast was "Acapulco Maude."

Maude is a nine-months-old Mexican burro, bought by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd V. McVey, of Chestnut Hill, Pa., for their daughter. To show their love for Maude, the crew made her a blanket, embroidered on the outside, and built a corral on the upper deck.

SESSION OF CONGRESS ENDS

to wind up the five-weeks session today so that a joint conference committee could adjust differences in the house and senate housing bills before adjournment. Some of the men appointed to the committee, however, were among the many members who already had gone home, necessitating postponement of final action until January.

SAME STATUS
Farm legislation, key item on the administration program, is in the same status as the housing legislation. Crop control bills passed both houses and now are before a conference committee which will meet late next week.

Another Roosevelt recommendation—establishment of wage and hour standards—was sailed away in the house labor committee because of a house vote to reconsider it "for further study." That recommendation was not made.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—This was the status of President Roosevelt's legislative program at the end of the special congressional session:
Farm—Passed senate and house and sent to a conference committee.
Wage-Hour—House returned it to labor committee, action which leaders described as tantamount to killing the bill.

Government Reorganization—Awaiting senate action.
Regional Planning—Still under study by senate and house committees.

Anti-Trust—No legislation introduced.
Housing—Passed senate and house and sent to a conference committee.

volt, led by southern Democrats and northern Republicans, was the greatest legislative setback for the administration since the court bill was sidetracked last summer.

Recommittal usually is tantamount to killing a measure, but friends of the wage-hour bill expressed hope it might be resurrected by a new presidential request for enactment.

TO FOLLOW DEBATE
A fourth segment of the administration program—government reorganization—was slated by Barkley today for senate action immediately after debate on the anti-lynching bill, which the senate has agreed to begin Jan. 6.

The latter measure, a point of controversy between the North and South for years, may encounter a southern filibuster, as it did at the start of the special session.

Regional planning bills, also on the administration's special session program, are pending before house and senate committees. They would establish agencies similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority, with power to undertake dam construction and similar projects.

Leaders, however, expect passage of a modified bill merely setting up research agencies.

FDR'S MOTHER LOSES SUIT

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—Frederick Grewen, of New Rochelle, was awarded $21,000 damages by a state supreme court jury in his suit against Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, and her chauffeur, Louis E. De Pew.

Grewen was injured by the Roosevelt car in New York City last April 3. De Pew was driving. Mrs. Roosevelt was not in the car.

Grewen, who is 34, married and the father of a 2-year-old girl, is a former glove salesman. He testified at the trial that he was destitute and unable to work because of his injuries.

William D. Reed, of New York, counsel for the defendants, moved to have the verdict set aside as contrary to the weight of evidence. Justice Mortimer B. Patterson granted a stay of execution in the judgment pending appeal.

Train Robbery Suspects Face Death Trial

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP)—The state yesterday charged Henry Lopez, 22, and Harry Dwyer, 27, with train robbery and first degree murder—both punishable by death—for their Thanksgiving day attempt to hold up a Southern Pacific train.

The boys testified at their preliminary hearing before Justice Albert Brown they had tried to hold up the train, but denied individual guilt in the shooting of W. L. Smith, a railroad employee.

Smith was shot fatally in a melee aboard the train in which trainmen and enraged passengers overcame Dwyer and Lorenz.

Hotel," was previewed Monday night. It was a distinct hit for Healy. He did not see it. Characteristically, he had given away his tickets to an extra friend.

COTTON SETS FIVE MARKS DURING YEAR

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Five new cotton records, including total production, were established during the dying year and under present indications it is unlikely that they will be duplicated in the near future.

The other new marks were: Indicated yield per acre, ginnings to Dec. 13, southern consumption and record spot sales for one week.

Ideal weather and intense cultivation resulted in the unprecedented crop, estimated on Dec. 8 by the department of agriculture at 18,746,000 bales. The previous high was 17,977,374 bales in 1926.

From the huge production sprang the indicated yield per acre of 264.6 pounds, or more than half a bale for every acre in the growing region. The figure compared with the average of 197.6 last year.

The ginnings also were an immediate result of the increased crop. The census bureau on Dec. 20 said that from Aug. 1 to Dec. 13, gins handled 16,811,781 bales, a figure approached only twice in the history of cotton growing, in 1926 and 1931.

The south's use of its major product reached its height in the spring of 1937. Secretary Henry Planché of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, said the total for the season ending July 31, was 6,584,000 bales, or more than 50 per cent of all lint cotton produced in that season.

NO LAW FEES, NO DIVORCE

Because Roy Harkins of Orange didn't pay his wife's lawyer, his divorce suit went off calendar in superior court today.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel ordered the case off calendar when this was discovered in court yesterday. Harkins had sued his wife, Mrs. Claudia Harkins, for divorce on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Harkins filed a cross-complaint for separate maintenance.

Harkins had been ordered to pay $30 a month for support of their two minor children and $50 attorney fees.

E. John Erickson, San Bernardino attorney for Mrs. Harkins, refused to go on with the case. He hadn't been paid, he said.

Legion Puts on Broadcast Tonight

Members of the American Legion and auxiliary will present the Christmas program this evening to be broadcast by public address system atop the First National bank building in the central business district. The Vesper ensembles and the Elks double quartet will appear before the microphone on Thursday and Friday evenings respectively.

Buglers who will take part in this evening's program are: Russell Hardcastle, Dr. Haiber, Andy Anderson, John Cleary, Harold Limon, Claude Wells, Max Gowdy, Elmer Christensen and Al Jones. The quartet, which will sing, is composed of Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag, LaVerne Van Wyke and Zara Kyle with Ruth Armstrong as director.

La Verne Van Wyke and Zara Kyle will be featured in solos. Commander Arthur Eckland will serve as master of ceremonies. Among the popular Christmas songs to be presented are "O Holy Night," "Silent Night," and "No Candle Was There and No Fire."

CHAPTER 23

Mrs. Degrelle always cringed when she came home to the little tan stucco bungalow set so box-like on the small lot without a tree to relieve the hideous squareness or to soften the cracked stucco.

A whole block of the same kind of bungalows, some white, some tan, all without trees, all with struggling brownish lawns.

The children didn't mind the house so much—not as much as she did, but that was because they were younger, and their memories shorter.

It was only on occasions now that Lois and Walter raved against the house. Mrs. Degrelle didn't wait for occasions, she murmured against the house daily, and many times a day. She couldn't get used to it.

Even the interior of the house with her own things in it, the remnants of better days, and the big house, was depressing to her.

She couldn't sit comfortably in the rooms, nor on the side porch, nor in the patch of neglected garden at the back.

She was restless in the house because the sight of the massive furniture, ornately carved, the few marbles she had been able to keep, the silken drapes at the windows reminded her of what had been.

When she was away from the house she was restless, too, because she knew she had to come back to it.

IMPATIENT
This bedroom, for instance, a box, nothing more than a box, and she and Lois had to share it together—one closet for their clothes, the other for the whole bedroom, and a wardrobe larger than the dressing room.

She left the closet impatiently, and laboriously got down on her knees to look under the twin beds.

There were some boxes under them. Perhaps it was there. She dragged the boxes out—four of them—two of them suit boxes and two of them hat boxes.

They were dusty, but she didn't clean them before she opened them. She didn't like to dust and clean. She never had, and Lois didn't like it either.

Ludie, a colored cleaning woman whom the Degrelles were able to employ, came once a week to make the house fresh. Ludie, however, had never been known to look under beds.

"Where could I have put it?" Mabel Degrelle murmured, getting to her feet. It wasn't in any of the boxes under the bed, and her hands were dusty. She felt very cross.

The closet—she had looked there. Even got the footstool and looked in all the boxes on the two shelves above the racks of hanging garments.

The chest—it wasn't there, and she sometimes stuck things in the bottom drawer if she was in a hurry. The dressing table drawers were too small for it, as were the drawers of the dresser too crowded with underclothes and a knick-knack.

HELPLESS
The room was too small and too overcrowded to look for anything comfortably. Mrs. Degrelle was hot, and her bland hair was tousled from stooping.

Walter's closet? No, it couldn't be there, because Walter made such a fuss if anything of hers or Lois' got into it by mistake. His closet was his only. He wouldn't even allow an extra coat to be hung there. Walter's closet was out.

She looked around the room again helplessly, looked at the two beds with their faded peach satin upholstered head boards, looked even at the drapes, faded peach satin, too, remnants of the past, covered every piece of delicately carved furniture, as if she expected to see it perched on top of the gilded mirror of the dressing table, or hung to the arm of the satin chair that had once been a deep lovely blue and now was a ragged gray except in the creases of the tufting.

The kitchen? It couldn't be there, but she would look. She did, and she looked in the chest that was too big for the dining room along with the other massive furniture.

She looked in the hall closet, which was bulging with old coats and old card tables, and a few end tables. One of the card tables fell down.

Well, it wouldn't be like this much longer—living so close, so crowded, so miserably, she thought as she picked up the card table and shoved it back somehow in the closet.

It would fall out the next time she opened the door, but she didn't care.

No, it wouldn't be like this much longer. Lois would be married to Alan and they would have a place of their own, and Walter would have a place of his own, and she—she would have a smart little apartment all her own, too.

Alan had promised her that as soon as he came into his money—all of it. The best of her things she would take with her and her place would be a joy to come into.

Not a hole like this where card tables fell into your face when you opened a closet door, when shoes tumbled on your head from shelves when you were hunting for something, where you had to get down on your knees and grub into dirty boxes.

This was ended—or it would be soon. Lois and Walter taken care of. Wasn't Walter going into business with Alan? No more worrying about how to get along on what she had left which was $50 a month, plus what salary Walter got, too.

No more economizing. No more humiliating shett o' ETASHER humiliation at the stores where she had no further credit. No more seeking out cheap places to have her hair tended to—and getting impossible bleaches which made her look her 50 years.

She wished she hadn't been so against Alan at first. She wished she could take back all the unkind things she had said about him.

She liked Alan now, she thought she always must have, but she had been blinded by her hope that Lois would make a good marriage—and in making a good marriage would do something for the family.

The key clicked in the front door, and Alan and Lois came in. Mabel Degrelle pushed back her hair hastily.

"Oh, I'm so glad you came. I'm desperate. Lois, did you take it?" "What, mother?" The girl slipped off her coat and left it on the bench in the hall. Alan followed her into the living room.

HER BLACK HAT
"My black millan hat. I can't find it any place. I've gone over this house from top to bottom, even under the beds. It's gone. Did you send it out to be blocked, or did you wear it some place and forget to bring it back?"

"Haven't seen it for weeks, mother. And you know I wouldn't wear it. It isn't becoming." Lois held up a cigarette for Alan to light.

"But it's gone. And it's my only decent black hat, you know it is! What am I going to do? Here I got my black suit back from the weavers today—that hole in it—mended beautifully—and I'm planning to wear it tomorrow."

"Five dollars it cost to weave the material into the hole, a frightful price, but I had to pay it because the black suit is the only decent thing I wear to wear. And now I can't wear it without the millan hat—and I haven't any other black hat. It's terrible, Lois!"

"You can wear my black hat—" "Yours is too impossible. I tried it on."

"Well, it must be here." "It isn't, I tell you. I've looked every place. Do you think Ludie took it?"

Lois sighed. She was used to her mother's dramas, her nervousness, but Alan was not.

Sportsmanship Good Quality

By DALE CARNEGIE

Visit any high school or college; go to a small town where everybody knows everybody else; look around at your club. Invariably, you will find that the most liked persons are those who have a sense of sportsmanship.

They are fellows who "can take it." To be a good sport sometimes requires courage.

DALE CARNEGIE
Basil King, the author, was a fine example of a good sport. He said: "With courage I get energy; with energy comes the fighting spirit which finds joy in overcoming obstacles."

Basil King knew whereof he spoke, for he bore, over a period of years, an affliction which would have overwhelmed many another man. His glands did not function correctly and the skin of his face became like parchment; he was sensitive about meeting new people. But his kindness and courage overshadowed his handicap, and no one thought of his affliction after meeting him the first time. Basil King had true sportsmanship.

Edward Everett was, at one time, the greatest orator in America, possibly in the world. So brilliant were his speeches that they had been published in four volumes, and colleges used them as the finest examples of oratory this country had ever seen.

When he was sixty-nine years old came the greatest triumph of his career. The National Soldiers' Cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa., was to be dedicated and he was chosen as the "speaker of the day."

He spent a great deal of time on the preparation of his speech, and he spoke brilliantly for nearly two hours. The climax of a long and distinguished career!

Then another man rose to speak; a gaunt, shambling, individual. Putting on his old steel spectacles, he came to the front of the platform, spoke ten sentences and sat down amid dead silence!

And Edward Everett knew that there was a speech far greater than his own oration. He did not hesitate. Going to the speaker, he said:

"Mr. Lincoln I would be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near to the central idea of the occasion in my two hours as you did in your two minutes."

And that, I command to you, as true sportsmanship!

A friend once asked Charles Dickens what he would do when he ran out of material to write about, since seemingly he had exhausted practically all phases of life as subjects for his novels. But Dickens was not worried. He replied: "There is enough inspiration in one blood of the city of London to keep me writing for another whole life-time."

"Wear the blue, mother. That looked lovely today on you."

"But I've set my heart on wearing the suit with the black millan. I spent an hour this morning ironing my linen blouse. Ludie did take it!"

"Ludie's never taken anything, and we've had her for years." "Somebody took it! A hat doesn't just up and walk out of the house. And I could swear I put it where I always do—in the hat box on the closet shelf."

"I can see myself putting it there when I came home from Ida Gimpson's luncheon—that's the last time I wore it. That was three weeks ago today. I burned the black skirt that day, and sent it out the next day to be mended."

Alan dug his hand in his pocket and pulled out his billfold. "Suppose you go downtown tomorrow, Lois, and buy your mother a new black hat to go with this black suit."

"Oh, Alan!" Mrs. Degrelle cried. "That's so nice of you! You don't know how I appreciate it!"

"So nice, Alan," Lois murmured, then she took up the subject they had been discussing when they came into the house. "Do you really think it's necessary to give Julian Howard a note for $30,000? Seems almost too generous to me."

After all, it wasn't your bond he put up. It was Nancy's. You're not responsible for Nancy's debts. Mr. Howard should see that."

"But Howard doesn't know it yet, dear," Alan was looking at the room. "He hasn't any inkling Mrs. Degrelle, who was leaving of it. I simply feel sorry for him—losing that amount on account of Nancy."

"Nobody would feel sorry for you if you lost $30,000." "I suppose not—what's that your mother is saying?" Mrs. Degrelle was in her bedroom now, and only a faint mumbling could be heard in the living room.

"Oh, she's still harping on the lost hat. You'll get used to that with mother. She can't forget anything. She'll be talking about that hat for a month, wondering where it's gone. The new hat will satisfy her, of course, but she'll still worry about the old one. Gets her mind on something and can't forget it. Walter and I are used to her."

BIG AIRCRAFT PLANT IN PROSPECT HERE

FIRM PLANS FACTORY TO
COST $50,000Supervisors Asked
For Lease Option

Prospects of a $50,000 development, including the western distributing plant for a large aircraft company, at the Orange county airport, were revealed today.

Roy Cheverton, holder of a lease to the county-owned airport, revealed the prospects in an offer to the board of supervisors for a one-year option for a 10-year lease on the property, provided the development goes through.

The offer, to be reported on by Supervisor N. E. West, was made through Atty. Loren W. Smith of Santa Ana. Smith said Cheverton had discussed "favorably" establishment of the western branch with the large company, which remained unnamed.

Cheverton would be unable to take up the lease option, it was stipulated, unless the $50,000 development took place with a year or the deal was consummated. Several other aircraft firms have the site under consideration, he intimated.

In case the deal should go through, under the plan, Cheverton would get a new 10-year lease from the county for the airport property. He obtained the lease from Floyd Wright.

Transfer of the lease, however, drew fire from Supervisor John Mitchell.

"Cheverton hasn't any lease," said Mitchell. "That lease we gave Wright wasn't transferable, and he can't sell it."

West is to report on all phases of the situation.

AMES DEMANDS
LARGER HOME

Although Superior Judge H. G. Ames demanded last week immediate provision for more inmates at the juvenile home, another week had passed today with out action.

Supervisor John Mitchell, delegated last week to report on Judge Ames' demand for more facilities, said today he was unable to secure a complete report because Architect F. H. Eley is out of town.

Eley, said Mitchell, has plans of the present building. Without plans, it is unknown whether or not partitions could be chopped out to provide more facilities. Eley is expected to return Friday.

Postpone Birth Control Parley

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Western states birth control conference has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced today by Mrs. Gladys DeLaney Smith of the California birth control committee.

Illness of Mrs. Margaret Sanger, nationally known birth control authority, and inability of other speakers to come here during December were given as the reasons for postponement.

I JUST FOUND OUT— Companies Hidden In County Files

By MILLARD BROWNE

To the Arch Beach Land and Water company, organized nearly 50 years ago, falls a unique distinction in Orange county history. It is—and always will be—No. 1 corporation in the constantly growing row of filing cases in the county clerk's office.

It was on Sept. 2, 1889, that the Arch Beach company filed articles of incorporation in County Clerk R. Q. Wickham's office. And since then 3680 other big and little businesses and defunct and thriving organizations have incorporated.

Nearly every big industry that does business in Orange county—even if its main office is in New York—is included in the clerk's "Inc." files. There's no chance of the files ever getting smaller, either. Because once a corporation has filed its papers here, they remain on file forever.

Take the Arch Beach company, for instance. It incorporated for 50 years, so its legal status expires two years from now. It could renew its papers, but even if it let the renewal slide it would be kept on the books. Even if it had filed affidavits of dissolution (which it hasn't), the original articles of incorporation would remain on record.

The rest of Orange county's first 10 organizations represent a pretty fair cross-section of the type of businesses that file papers. They are: Brea Canyon Oil company, First Congregational Church of Villa Park, Orange County Abstract company, Orange County Collegiate Institute, Pacific Condensed Milk, Coffee & Canning Co., Richfield Land and Water company, Santa Ana Abstract Co., Blade Publishing Co., and Leonard C. Portland Cement Manufacturing Co. of Los Angeles.

The Blade, Santa Ana's first newspaper, was incorporated March 4, 1890, with a capital stock of $25,000. Most unique among the old-time organizations was the collegiate digest, incorporated with a $22,500 capital stock in 1889 with James H. Harwood as main sponsor. Its purpose: To provide higher education.

It isn't just the big companies that incorporate, however. Some non-profit organizations that have no capital stock whatever are listed in County Clerk Basil J. Smith's files.

Here's one: The Santa Ana Coffee club, incorporated in 1905 to maintain "houses of refreshment where no liquor, cigarettes or other tobacco shall be sold." Without power to assess its members or to capitate for its membership. Original directors: W. H. Spurgeon, L. L. Vestal, Robert McFadden, Oscar H. Gruenewald, Walter Tedford, Horatio J. Forgy, A. J. Visel, S. P. Kenney and Mit Phillips.

First strictly social organization to incorporate, however, was the Santa Ana Social club in 1903, organization "for recreation purposes" with no capital stock, by John J. Gerken, S. Matthews, George P. Tumler, L. Goepfer and F. E. Bennett.

One of the bigger local businesses on file is the Holly Sugar Co., which filed amended articles in 1931 setting its stock at $5,800,000. Another big Orange county concern, The Irvine Co., incorporated in West Virginia

School Teacher
Leaves $23,000

Mrs. Mary Cox Emerson, Paulino school teacher who died Dec. 11, left an estate worth $23,000, it was estimated today.

The estate was made by her husband, Edward E. Emerson, who filed in superior court a petition for probate of Mrs. Emerson's will.

The estate, he said, has an annual income of $1300. He is named as executor and heir in the will.

With $500 of a prospective $1,000,000 stock already contributed. That was back in 1894.

Reason some companies incorporate in other states, Smith explains, is because of variation in fees. California charges $15 for corporations under $25,000, $25 for those between $25,000 and $50,000, $50 for $75,000-$200,000, $75 for $200,000-$500,000, $100 for $500,000-$1,000,000, and $50 additional for each extra million dollars worth of stock.

Under new state law, all papers are filed in the secretary of state's office at Sacramento, and certified copies are forwarded to any county in which the company wants to be incorporated (at $1 each).

Incorporating is not compulsory, but is a legal protection, explains Smith. It gives the company a status in court in case it wants to sue for fees or debts payable to it, and it limits liability of each individual member of the corporation to his pro rata share.

That's why big oil companies, for example, would be likely to incorporate in every county in which they are operating service stations. Union Oil Co. (incorporated in Orange county in 1891) was the first of these to file here.

First "big time" company on local record, however, is Southern Pacific, which is No. 17 in the Orange county files. It filed in November, 1890. Another railroad beat S. P. in incorporating, however, the Santa Ana and Westminster line filing articles a few days earlier.

When you see the abbreviation, "Ltd." added to a corporation's name these days, you can be sure the word is meaningless. It may be all right, though, if it's added to the firm name of an unincorporated business. The term just means creditors can't assess individual members more than their pro rated share if the firm goes broke, and a recent state constitutional amendment provided that all corporations are limited. "Ltd." is still used to denote limited liability in partnerships, however.

Usual information contained in articles of incorporation is the name, purpose, location, principal office, number and names of directors, amount and division of stock.

One hundred and one of the county's 3681 corporations have filed articles this year. Leader of the 1937 parade: George Terry & Associates, registered Jan. 6.

SUTHERLAND
ON PARALYSIS COMMITTEE

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, was notified today of his appointment as a member of the medical advisory committee to a new national foundation for the prevention and curing of infantile paralysis.

President Roosevelt who recently announced the new foundation stated there are four fronts for immediate action by the organization: First, to make a scientific research; secondly, to give epidemic first aid; thirdly, dissemination to doctors and parents knowledge on the proper care for diseased persons and finally to raise funds for orthopedic centers, hospitals and clinics.

The new organization will be engaged in putting up a united front against infantile paralysis.

OLD FRIEND GONE

KANSAS CITY.—"Dear Sir: Just a card to tell you Nellie Horse died last night. Was ill only a few hours. We all feel bad about it."

"Respectfully, Mrs. S. W. Boyd."

That was the death notice of Nellie, one of the nation's few named horses.

Nellie and Prince, another horse, came into $5000 under the will of DeForrest Plazek, a former president of the Kansas City board of trade, who raised them from colts.

The horses were placed on a farm under Mrs. Boyd's care. Her letter was to trustees of Plazek's estate.

When Prince dies the $5000 will revert to a University of Kansas student aid fund.

TURN OFF THE HEAT

CHICAGO.—The temperature was near freezing, but Robert William Gilmore, 27, an optician, thought it too warm.

He went down to the Chicago river, shouted to nearby spectators "it's too hot," and jumped in. Coast Guardsmen hauled him out. Chief Boatswain's Mate Thomas Andreasen said Gilmore complained he still was overheated from "a drink" he had sampled.

Police took him in custody.

FLAHERTY
RESIGNS AS BUREAU HEAD

R. D. Flaherty resigned today as executive secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau. His successor will be picked next Tuesday at a special directors' meeting.

Flaherty will become organizational director of the American Farm Bureau federation for the 11 Western states, beginning Jan. 1. He has managed the local bureau for 10 years.

His appointment to the national federation post by E. A. O'Neal, president of the federation, was announced as Flaherty returned from an eastern trip. Officers of the bureau met yesterday afternoon, and called a special meeting of directors for Tuesday, a successor will be named.

In his new job, Flaherty will be in charge of development and membership programs of local and state farm bureaus, working directly under O'Neal. He will be one of four such organizational directors in the country.

His family, he said today, will remain here until next summer, when they will move to wherever his permanent headquarters are to be established. Flaherty has been secretary for 10 of the 20 years of the county bureau's existence, serving in 1922 and 1923 and since February, 1930.

"I'm sorry to leave Orange county," he said, "but I felt that this really is an opportunity and I didn't feel I could turn it down."

Levering. Advanced certificates — Orville Hemstreet, John R. Lugo, H. L. Roberts, J. K. Savage and Gene Swanson.

THE FOX POUNCED PAST THEM INTO A BIG SNOW DRIFT

CHAPTER 21
CAUGHT AGAIN

The moon was wrapping a big gray cloud around his shoulders when the sailor and Helga skinned back in their ice-boat to the fox's den. They had to return to save the tiny squirrel that had promised to wait for them in a holy bush.

They tied their boat to an icicle and crept quietly to the foot of the fox's mountain. Just as they approached the holy bush they heard a squeaky whisper saying, "Hey, here I am. Thank goodness, you came. The fox has been out looking all around for me."

There was the tiny squirrel. He took a flying leap and landed on the sailor's hand.

"What is the fox doing?" Helga asked the squirrel.

"Oh, he's just finished breaking up all the furniture in there," said the squirrel. He's so mad he can't sit down."

The sailor and Helga laughed and hurried back to the boat. But they were too late. They heard a rush behind them, and there was the white fox running down the mountain after them.

"Quick," whispered the sailor. "Stand close together. When he pounces toward us jump to your side."

The two stood absolutely still and when the fox pounced Helga jumped to her side, and the sailor jumped to his side. The white fox pounced right through them, and past them into a big snow drift.

"Quick, the bells," shouted Helga to the sailor.

He shook the silver bells that would call the queen of faeries. She appeared suddenly by their side calling all her faeries and they jumped up from everywhere—out of the snow, down from tree branches, and out of crevices in the rocks.

"Hurry," ordered the queen, "cover that snow hummock with a coat of ice. We'll seal the fox in there just long enough for us to get away."

COVERED WITH ICE

The faeries rushed to the hummock of snow, and ran back and forth over it, covering it with ice just as you and I would spread butter over a bun. The fox howled inside, but the ice held him there.

"Oh, thank you so much," said Helga to the queen of faeries. "Isn't there something we can do for you?"

"Oh, there is," said the queen. "I've been thinking about it for some time. But we'll have to ask Santa first."

"Isn't it about time to start back for the toymshop?" asked the queen. "We must drop this tiny squirrel off with his people on the way."

"Yes, let's hurry," said Helga. "Won't you ride along with us?" she asked the fairy queen.

"I'd like to," said the queen. "And I can tell you that ride was swift and smooth because the queen of faeries was aboard the boat."

COUNTY SEEKS NEW LIBRARY
EXECUTIVE

Selection of a new county librarian was being considered today as Miss Dorothy Wents, who resigned yesterday, conferred with state officials in Sacramento.

Miss Wents resigned yesterday, effective Dec. 31, to become librarian for Solano county, between Sacramento and Oakland. She was conferring today with Miss Mabel Gillis, state librarian, over appointment of a new head for the Orange county free library.

Qualifications for the position include a number of graduate university courses, and few librarians in the state are qualified to hold such a post.

Two Sections Enjoy Yule Sessions

Highlighted by lovely Christmas appointments and clever reviews of current literature, two book review sessions of Ebbl gathered yesterday in separate sessions for their December programs.

As members of the Ebbl Book Review section met in the clubhouse lounge, they were entertained by a charming program arranged by Mrs. John Tressmann, program chairman. Featured on the program was a review of Kenneth Horan's book, "Remember the Day," presented by Mrs. Aldric Worswick.

Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh sang a series of Christmas selections in her lovely manner, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Ferrey. Included in her songs were "Ave Marie" by Bach-Gounod, "Jesu-Bambino" by Pietro-A-Yon, "Birth of a King" by Niedlinger and "Silent Night" in which all the ladies joined.

A clever wreath from the desert made of juniper and sumac centered the decoration theme, completed with a silver bowl of shining silver balls and crimson flower tapers, interspersed with artimesie sprays. Refreshments were served to the group by Mrs. Perry Lewis, Mrs. S. W. Stanley and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, co-hostesses for the day.

Mrs. Emrys D. White, jr., was hostess to the First Book Review section of Junior Ebbl, entertaining in the home of Mrs. E. D. White, 2115 North Broadway. She was joined by Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, Mrs. Arthur Wade and Mrs. Fred Burlew in her hostess duties.

An old-fashioned Christmas tree was set in the living room, with a clever grouping of pine cones, greenery and tapers on the mantel. A table centerpiece of Santa Claus and his sleigh pulled by nine silver reindeer held a tiny package, later awarded as a door prize to Mrs. Allen Miller, a special guest for the evening. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table decorated with tall red tapers, pine cones and greenery.

Mrs. L. L. Beeman, another guest for the session, reviewed "You Can't Take It With You," Pulitzer prize play.

Included in the group of members were Mrs. Gordon Richmond, Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Mrs. Stanley Norton, Mrs. Clarence Ranney, Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Newell Vandermast, Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mrs. John Scripps, Mrs. Chester Horton, Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mrs. Milton H. Poppett, Mrs. James T. Workman, and Mrs. Thoburn White. Their guests were Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Beeman and Mrs. Linus Southwick.

ENGAGEMENT IS TOLD AT CLUB PARTY

Although most of the group were aware of engagement, they were pleasantly surprised Monday evening when Miss Nadine Ogden displayed the diamond solitaire given her by Richard Kendall to members of the Seven O'Clock Bridge club.

The group was meeting in the home of Miss Margie Livesey, 906 South Garnsey street, for their annual Christmas celebration. The evening began with a delicious covered dish dinner served at a lace-covered table centered with a bowl of holly and poinsettias.

Appropriate holiday tallies and placecards marked each place where individual red baskets of candy were also located. Following an exchange of gifts, the group played bridge, awarding high prize to Miss Bee Cleaveland and low to Miss Beverly Weindorf.

Miss Ogden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Ogden, 514 South Parton street, and Mr. Kendall will be married sometime in 1938, although they have not yet selected a definite date. She is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Santa Ana Junior college, while the groom-elect attended Santa Ana High school, where he was a prominent track star, and is now employed at Rankin's department store.

Included in the intimate group were Mrs. Neil Parker, Mrs. Jack Livesey, Mrs. Dalton Young, Miss Nadine Ogden, Miss Ginger Keeler, Miss Bee Cleaveland, Miss Beverly Weindorf and Miss Margie Livesey.

Present were the Mesdames Zita Shirley, Amy Hoffmaster, C. W. Brockett, James Wylie, E. E. Bruce, Edna Wilsey, Etta Pistole, Vergie Morgan, Kathryn Crist, H. C. Switzer, L. A. Jacobs, R. S. Rennison, R. E. Jones with Roy Bert and Myra, O. S. Waters, E. L. Patton, Charles N. Turner with Bobbie, P. R. Krone, W. J. Morgan, A. N. Glancy, A. S. Bash, Albert Owen and Marilyn, and Hugh Gerrard.

HAMMETT HOME SCENE OF ANNUAL PARTY

Mrs. Frank Hammett, East Fourth street, was hostess for the annual Christmas party of the Chat 'n' Sea club Monday evening, when the members, who had been together for 24 years, gathered for a 7 o'clock dinner.

All appointments featured the Yuletide, and the large table was centered with a low bowl of holly berries, among which tiny lights gleamed. On the buffet was arranged a beautiful snow scene with a background of blue cellophane.

Adjoining to the living room, a big tree, gaily lighted, with a heap of gifts ready for the exchange later in the evening. On the mantel was another bowl of berries with more tiny lights shining through. Poinsettias were used generously through the rooms.

An absent member, Mrs. Harold Nelson of Tampa, Fla., sent a surprise gift, for which the members drew lots. Another absentee, Mrs. R. K. Gibson of Seattle, Wash., sent a big box of candy and a wire of greeting. The club sent return messages by wire to the ladies.

In the group to enjoy the gala affair were Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mrs. Leon Dickey, Mrs. Claude Sleeper, Mrs. Harvey Gardner, Mrs. Walter Gerken, Mrs. Warren Hilyard, Mrs. J. A. Gajek, Miss Gertrude Fottis and Mrs. Frank Hammett. The evening was spent in needlework and chatting.

ELOISE REVILL HOSTESS FOR SUPPER PARTY

When Miss Eloise Revill was hostess at a delightful supper party in her home, 2215 North Ross street, Saturday evening, she was assisted in her duties by her mother, Mrs. Alan Revill.

A lovely table, with a tree made of red and silver bells in the center, place card of silver bells with name cards and tiny red balls attached, was ready for the guests. After supper, the entire group attended the formal dance given at the Y. W. C. A. for the dancing class of which Miss Eloise is a member.

Pretty formal gowns were worn by all the young ladies. In the group of guests were Miss Janet Coffing, Miss Janet and Miss Barbara McFadden, Miss Frances Nall, Miss Marilyn Bear, Homer Cheney, Jr., Bruce Ragan, Jack Howard, David Hearle, James Daly and James Powers.

Campus Folk Home for Holidays

Bringing with them the light-hearted gaiety of campus life with which to add brilliance and pleasure to the holiday activity of Santa Ana, several dozen collegians are spending from two to four weeks' vacation from their studies at their parents' homes.

Miss Beth Emison, a Kappa Kappa Gamma at the University of Oregon, is visiting her parents, the R. A. Emisons of North Park boulevard, and another young coed from the same school, Miss Helen Andrews, who is pledged Sigma Kappa, is spending the vacation with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews. Miss Caro Cogan, daughter of the Charles Cogan, is vacationing in the Siskiyou with friends, and will have a deferred visit with her family when they drive north next month.

The Howard Rapps have their Kappa daughter, Patty, home with them from the University of Indiana, and Miss Louise Sexton of U. S. C. is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. C. Sexton. Miss Mary Wallace has deferred the Stanford campus for the home of her parents, the J. C. Wallace, 1621 Spurgeon street.

Two collegian daughters are with the A. F. Granases, Miss Audrey from the University at Berkeley, and Miss Beatrice from U. S. C. Another Berkeleyite is noted on the streets this week was Miss Lucille Griset, and Miss Barbara Davis, also from the northern college, is with her parents, the C. V. Davises.

A foursome of gridiron heroes is vacationing in the home spots, too—Bill Greshner from California, John Lemaritt from the University of Mississippi, Miles Norton from S. C. and Allen Titensor from Arizona.

U. C. L. A. has lost a good percentage of its sparkling coeds until the New Year, for at home now in Santa Ana from that school are Betty Lee, daughter of Mrs. Italy Lee; Betty Martin, daughter of the W. B. Martins; Eleanor Bowyer, Orange; Margaret Sawyer, daughter of the Frank Sawyers; Yvette Blank, daughter of the J. G. Blank; Barbara Crawford, daughter of the Vail Crawford; Mary Jane Belcher, daughter of the Guy Belchers; and Gerrie Griffith, young journalism student.

From the Trojan campus come Marvin Spicer, visiting his mother at 901 South Garnsey street; Vivian Kaufman, daughter of the S. B. Kaufmans; Ione Hooven, visiting her parents, the P. A. Hoovens at 1325 North Garnsey street; Henry Dietz, John Ramirez; Mary Lou McFarland, daughter of the O. Scott McFarlands.

Miss Mary Paxton is home from Berkeley, while her sister, Miss Jean, a student from Davis, is also at the home of their parents, the W. A. Paxtons, 401 East Fifth street. Miss Isobel McCormac is at home from Chaffee junior college, and Claremont colleges have released Geraldine Gilbert, Betty Heil, Barbara Rowland, and June Clark. Harold Lutes is visiting his parents, the R. R. Luteses, and

GREENWOODS TO FETE SON AND BRIDE TOMORROW

Of great interest to county residents were details revealed today of the wedding of Miss Katharine Shubunka of San Francisco and Charles F. Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Greenwood of Tustin. The parents of the groom, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eustis, Mr. and Mrs. E. Eustis, returned yesterday from Palo Alto where they attended the ceremony performed Sunday afternoon in the beautiful Memorial chapel of Stanford university. Open house will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Greenwood home on Warren avenue, when friends can meet the young couple, now honeymooning in the south.

The groom, who was graduated from Tustin high school in 1931, later finished his education at Stanford, where he was affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. Miss Shubunka and her parents moved to San Francisco from New York several years ago.

The simple but effective ceremony was witnessed by two close friends of the young couple, whose romance began some months ago through their mutual business affiliation with the Pacific Can Co. in San Francisco. Acting as best man was Mr. Eustis, a Tustin classmate of the groom. Miss Joanne Shubunka, sister of the bride, was her only attendant.

MUSICAL ARTS GROUP HAS YULE PROGRAM

Musical Arts society enjoyed a gay musical afternoon yesterday in celebration of Christmas week. After luncheon at Daniger's, over which Mary Batten Steffensen presided, three guests were introduced, including Mrs. Elva Davis of Vancouver, B. C., Ollime Enlow Matthews (formerly of Santa Ana and a talented musician), and her guest, Austin Carleton of Richmond, Va., rapidly making strides as a tenor soloist.

The afternoon's program was in charge of Cecil Fross Willets, who introduced first Pearl Livesey, soloist, who delighted her audience with rendition of two numbers. Next came Irma Huffman May and Mildred Wagner, who gave two beautiful duet numbers along a Christmas theme. Mr. Carleton concluded the musical program with three lovely songs, with Ruth Armstrong accompanying him as she did the others.

Leon Eckles was featured speaker of the day, discussing the Federal Music project, of which he is director here. The group will meet again January 11, at the Guslin studios, at which time James Beal, pianist, will give a concert, with Mrs. Constance Lehmann, dramatic interpreter, as an additional attraction on the program.

both Eva Bergee and Glenn Bishop are vacationing from California.

In the alumni group is Robert Tannenbaum, former Santa Ana student, and now a professor at Oklahoma A. and M. college at Stillwater. He arrived yesterday by plane to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tannenbaum.

P.E.O. Groups Enjoy Yule Parties

Added pleasure was experienced by each of Santa Ana's three P. E. O. Sisterhood chapters this week at their regular meetings when Christmas gaiety and the easy informality of the holiday season held sway at special Yuletide parties, where everyone exchanged pretty gifts with fellow-members.

Chapter A. B. was entertained in the charming home of Mrs. Robert Northcross, and the latter was joined in hosting the group by Mrs. Terry Stephenson, whose illness prevented her, however, from being present.

After luncheon the group heard one of its own members, Mrs. Harry Hanson, give an extremely interesting talk on the Christmas celebration in many other countries. Mrs. Hanson's talk was summary of a pageant she is aiding in producing at her church, and it was illustrated by very complete and detailed costumes for each phase.

It was at Mrs. Maurice Enderle's home that D. I. chapter met for luncheon, with Mrs. Cood Adams and Mrs. John Tressmann as co-hostesses. The trio had arranged a beautiful table, with miniature snow scene complete to the most minute detail. Luncheon was served buffet style, with Miss Lulu Minter and Mrs. Nat Neff assisting in serving.

The Christmas spirit was evinced in the program Mrs. Neff had arranged, with a group of lovely violin solos played by Mrs. Elmer Heidt, the singing of carols by the group, and the ever-effective and moving interpretation of "The Three Wise Men" for which Ernest Crozier Phillips is noted.

Mrs. Harry Bowman was hostess to Chapter G. J., serving luncheon at small tables centered with miniature Christmas trees and candles. A Yuletide program was greatly enjoyed with Mrs. Edwin Klatt reading the Christmas story and group singing of carols.

Mrs. John Webster officiated at the distribution of gifts, and members present were the Mesdames Clarence Bond, Harry Bowman, R. R. Caldwell, J. H. Carter, E. C. Diehl, H. A. Gardner, W. B. Heil, E. L. Klatt, P. H. Marshall, C. R. Miller, S. A. Moore, C. S. Saffley, W. J. Stauffer, W. S. Thomson, John Webster, and Miss Mary Saffley.

BRUNER-ROSS NUPTIALS READ IN CHURCH HERE

During lovely rites performed in the First Christian church at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Miss Lois Bruner became the bride of Samuel Thompson Ross. The Rev. Scott Buchanan officiated.

The bride was lovely in a blue velvet gown cut princess style, and with it she wore a corsage of gardenias. She was attended by Mrs. Richard Spicer of Los Angeles as matron of honor, with Mrs. Spicer dressed in a light gown of lighter blue. Richard Spicer acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the newlyweds left for a motor trip to Seattle, Wash., where they will spend a three-weeks honeymoon, visiting the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barber, during their stay. Upon their return, they will make their home in Santa Ana, where the bridegroom is employed by the Tower Manufacturing company.

The bride was feted recently when fellow members of the Meta Adelpheon class of the First Christian church complimented her with a surprise miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. E. M. Waycott, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, Mrs. E. A. Elwell, Mrs. Earl Ladd, Mrs. H. M. Kinslow, Mrs. Arthur Eklund and Mrs. G. D. Cole.

WAS HOME IS SETTING FOR DINNER

Extending the hospitality of the Yuletide season, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Was entertained a score of friends at dinner Monday evening.

Their hospitable home was filled with fragrant holly, and a lighted Christmas tree around which guests gathered after the delicious dinner served at a long table decorated with tapers, vivid berries, and individual comic favors. A gift exchange resulted in much merriment for the group, all of whom are connected with the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, Santa Ana branch.

Present were Mrs. Was' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bean of San Jose; Miss Jean McFadden, Miss Doris Wille, Miss Edith Brannon, Lawrence Gubin, and the Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Crowell, Jr., Linus Southwick, Don Boyd, Joe Weber, Carleton Smith, Alvin Stauffer, J. W. Brown and Frank Was.

Yule Program Enjoyed By Group

Inspired with the true Christmas spirit by a holiday message from their president, Mrs. R. A. McMahon, and by a beautiful program of Yuletide significance, members of the Woman's club of Santa Ana had an enjoyable meeting yesterday, their last until the New Year.

Two musical numbers, a group of carols sung by LaVonne and Harold Cole, and an original piano-lesson by Mrs. M. O. Wells, accompanied by Mrs. R. G. Carman, preceded a most delightful playlet presented by the club's Drama section.

Entitled "Christmas in Mexico," it was directed by Miss Blanche Seelye, and portrayed a modern holiday situation on a street of old Mexico. The stage had been beautifully decorated with peasant furnishings, by Mrs. G. F. Hulise, and both they and the costumes worn were furnished by Mrs. R. R. McDonald. Taking part in the amusing production were Mrs. E. M. Waycott, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, Mrs. E. A. Elwell, Mrs. Earl Ladd, Mrs. H. M. Kinslow, Mrs. Arthur Eklund and Mrs. G. D. Cole.

In charge of the day's program, which was followed by a dainty tea course, were Mrs. J. D. Watkins, Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, Mrs. Earl Lepper, Mrs. F. A. Martin, Mrs. Bertha McCracken and Mrs. Blanche Hackleton. Mrs. E. O. Ahern was in charge of the tea, at which Mrs. R. G. Carman and Mrs. F. A. Martin presided over the table with its effective white Christmas candles banded with holly. Mrs. A. C. Keck and Mrs. George Wright assisted.

Another pleasant feature of the day was a gift exchange, with children's presents being distributed from one beautiful tree, and adults' from another.

Business announcements included one of a Drama section luncheon to be held Jan. 3 at the home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins, and one of a Social section dessert bridge party Dec. 28, at the home of Mrs. G. F. Hulise.

CHRISTMAS PARTY
The subordinate lodge will have its Christmas tree and party at 8 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 23, in the I. O. O. F. hall, it was announced today. All Rebekahs, Odd Fellows, and their families are cordially invited, and a special program is being arranged.

TWO PROGRAMS
GIVEN BY PIANO PUPILS

Santa Ana piano students of Miss Katharine Budd journeyed to Long Beach over the week-end to join her Long Beach pupils in two Christmas programs for their parents in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Read.

The junior high school students presented their program Saturday afternoon, while the elementary recital was on Sunday. The home was decorated in Christmas fashion, which included a large tree. After both programs, light refreshments were served.

Besides the piano selections, the junior high recital included several readings by Bill Fleishman, and a group of songs by Miss Natalie Murphy, who also assisted in the Sunday program. Other features on Sunday were a reading by Allen Young, and a whistling solo by Jeanette Miller, who played her own accompaniment.

Santa Ana young people taking part in the Saturday program were Doris Jacobs, Frances Becker, Maxine Burnett, Keith Hassen, and Bobby Nelson. The younger local people were Katherine Williams, Barbara Williams, John Richards, Howard Shugart and Josh Wilson.

KIDDIES ARE INCENTIVE FOR PARTY

Half a hundred parents and an equal number of children enjoyed the annual party of the Yo-Ma-Fo First Christian church last night, held in the educational building.

Each child provided a part of the program of songs and recitations, and later was presented with a toy from a large and beautiful tree. Silvered tangle weeds and blue ornaments were effective decorations, and a refreshment course of chocolate and jelly was served the young guests at kindergarten tables.

A feature of the program, over which Mrs. Nylin Hurd presided, was the presentation of a lovely gift to Mrs. Claude Wasson, class teacher.

Committee in charge of the affair was Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Haysom, Mr. and Mrs. Nylin Hurd, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loughton.

The increase, if granted, would be the first in thirty years of operation, except for the World war period when the utility was under government control, the announcement stated.

The increase is needed because the "financial resources and credit of the companies are being jeopardized by the decline in revenues brought on by the general slackening of the business of the country," the statement said.

What!
No Heckling?

BY TOM E. DANSON

● Fred Allen, affected by the spirit of Christmas, will entertain Jack Benny during his Town Hall Tonight hour from Hollywood to night at 9 p. m., over KFI. Benny's visit to Town Hall Tonight will repay an old obligation, since Allen and Hoffa descended upon the Benny show last season. The aerial exchange of courtesies between the Yankee comedian and the Jester of Waukegan is expected to result in no violence, although Allen's heckling wife Portland is reported to have obtained recipes for arsenic-flavored tea.

Allen's invitation to Benny was received coolly until the wise-cracking master of Town Hall Tonight assured his rival comedian that his invitation was not a summons. Having no car at his disposal during his visit to Hollywood, Allen has agreed to provide a gallon of gasoline so that Benny can drive his Maxwell to the studio. If the car will stand the weight, Benny plans to drive by the brick yard so as to be prepared for the worst when Allen, Portland Hoffa, Harry Von Zell and the Mighty Allen Art Players surround him at the microphone.

NEW CURBING MAY BE AID TO DRIVERS

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—The division of highways recently disclosed it has designed a new type of curbing to be used as safeguards against head-on collisions and assuring safe driving on the roadways.

F. J. Grumm, division engineer, said the curbing will reflect the light from the headlights of a car, thus clearly marking the marginal limits of the highway.

In the development of highway with multiple lanes separated by a division strip, it became necessary to show clearly the outside and inside boundary lines of traffic moving in either direction.

Two types of reflector-curbings have been adopted for use. The first is a simple type of wedge indentation which is the most suitable where traffic movements parallel the curbs.

The second is a block type with all faces of the reflector sloped to reflect light. It is more effective for upgrades and angles where the light hitting them comes from an indirect angle.

Dreams Contain Clues to Problems

Interpret Every-Day Dreams "I just had the craziest dream," you say.

"I was taking a bath, and suddenly the tub was on wheels, scooting down the busiest street in town, with me still in it!"

Disconcerting, yes. But who hasn't dreamed of appearing in public partly clothed? Curiously enough, this dream is fair proof that you're a very modest person, maybe a little too much afraid of not saying or doing the right thing.

Or some one may have entrusted you with a burdensome secret. Your dream takes this fantastic way of dramatizing your fear that you may accidentally betray a confidence.

Each of your dreams has a special meaning for you. Some are significant warnings from your unconscious mind. Others are just a harmless way of letting off steam after you've been under nervous strain.

Our 32-page booklet explains dream language, shows you how to interpret your dream adventures constructively.

Send 10c for your copy of the Meaning of Dreams to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Opinions of 'Teen-Agers' Might Give Tips to Many of Older Folks

"How to tactfully handle the 'teen-ager'—We are constantly warned and advised in magazines, bulletins via the press and over the radio. Should we take all of this advice and be able to apply it, doubtless we would soon be able to turn out a race of super-humans.

But, fortunately, or unfortunately as the case may be, children are human beings. They have brains and sometimes think with them. What do they think of us? We seldom see it in print.

That's why I think this third letter from "Mary," the 15-year-old girl who wrote recently about her slovenly father is especially interesting.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I want to thank you for publishing my letters, particularly the second one, as I did not wish anyone to misunderstand me. I also wish to thank Sappo for her wonderful letter.

The advice given me by another kind reader to flatter my father's ego, etc., I am afraid I cannot take. I just can't see why one human being has to flatter or coax or trick another into acting ordinarily decent.

Some of my girl chums recognized the letters as mine and have been very kind to me. One of them confided that she has hidden the fact for years that her father beats her mother. She has urged her mother to leave him, but her mother insists on staying so she can have a home.

Another chum has a father who blows his nose on the floor and leave his fifth for the rest of the family to step in. He also thinks he is a lovely man who is very much abused.

I do not mean to sound as if men were all this way. In fact, some of the girls I know have mothers who drink since repeal. What could be worse than a mother with liquor on her breath? Maybe some of these society people and sophisticates can stand it—not me!

Thank you again Miss Stoddard and a merry Christmas to you and Sappo. Sincerely, MARY.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Artists will tell you that the body of a man is more beautiful than that of a woman. Centuries ago it was the man who adorned himself, and "primped." The woman did not bother with the affectations.

Now all is different. Women are the ones who are most concerned about their beauty. There have been some remarks in this column lately that women spend too much money on sheer silk stuff, cosmetics, clothes and beauty treatments.

True. They do. Men are at the root of the whole thing, though. When some woman goes into a store and orders the sheerest, most expensive silk hosiery she can buy, it is because she wants to enhance her sex appeal. If she's unmarried, she wants to look good to some matrimonial prospect. If she's married, she wants to hold her man.

The eternal search for beauty! If men weren't so fickle, women wouldn't spend so much on their self-keep. STUPID.

EXPERIMENT ON HIGHWAY LIGHTING

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Highway lighting experiments as an accident prevention measure have been undertaken by the state division of highways.

The division is now experimenting on a 3¼ mile stretch on the Bayshore highway between San Francisco and South San Francisco.

The division is using two types of standards, one of which is tapered steel and centrifugally spun concrete.

These poles will be 30 feet in length and carry a movable mast arm for suspending the lighting fixture two feet inside the pavement edge.

The locations were selected not only to provide a proving ground for the efficiency and cost of such lighting, but also because of particular conditions which might warrant installation.

The standards will be set on staggered spacing, 140 feet apart, the lighting to be sodium vapor with 10,000 lumen lamps.

A second installation will be between the north end of the Golden Gate bridge and the crest of the grade just in north of Waldo tunnel.

On the section north of the bridge the normal hazards of the highly fogged are complicated by the highly lighted bridge structure as well as that of the Waldo tunnel. Traffic emerging from either the bridge or the tunnel is often confronted with a dense fog, which is likely to lead to serious accidents.

The division hopes to keep an accurate record from the experimental lighting and it is expected that much may be learned from the two installations.

The holiday season takes an added interest with the announcement of the placing of Milford Zornes' murals in the Claremont postoffice.

Factually, Claremont has the smallest postoffice (I will not enter that public buildings dispute) in this country with murals. That they should be those of Milford Zornes is an added honor.

Of them Zornes says "I feel the color effect in the room is good. It makes the place seem larger and lighter. It has added warmth, and I am especially glad I stuck to my theory of not covering the wall."

The murals are another of those things I have personally watched evolve, and in some respects (especially their dynamic force) they have greatly surpassed my expectations.

Zornes has worked those things which typify Claremont (her schools, groves, music and Padua) into a powerful story that is enthralling. I think, by having to look up at the wall decoration.

The Claremont murals comprise one of the finest Federal projects in the south of California. They will be especially fine inspiration to the ever-changing procession of college students and the constant flow of the town's "basic industry."

Very elegantly, naturally, that other Federal projects do not measure up to this one. The Long Beach mosaic is peculiarly disappointing.

On the subject of Federal projects and things pertaining to them, this seems a good time to "get off" that certain feeling about the American Artists' Congress.

This, again, is all the more timely because of the current showing at Raymond and Raymond.

Looking at the show this past week, I saw little to be regarded as "propaganda," unless one might call poor painting that the poorest, awfulest Craig yet mine to view, I was even more roused by Grace Clements venturing to send a letter along with her effort.

If that which is within a frame cannot speak for itself, it is time right now for a clearing. Surely painting should be able to stand by itself!

As for the Congress, we have had "schools" of painting many times in the historical past. Few of their efforts have survived the tests for enduring art.

I wonder, too at some of the painters who have been lured into "carrying" this organization for the incompetent. They must have been blinded to the fact that even the modern French "survivors" are those finding it necessary to work alone. Why be "sucker-bait" for the parasites?

In quieter mood—none have had to wave a red flag before me to incite this comment!

Interest in the first Santa Ana Photographic show that opens at the library February 1st is mounting.

Special invitations have been issued to some of the country's leading photographers, and it is already known that Edward Weston, George Hurrell, Will Connell, Arthur Shimoda will send.

More interesting, I find, is the response of those not known who are anxious to submit their work to a west coast audience.

From Dallas, from the University of Oklahoma, from Philadelphia, from Port Clyde, Maine, this past week, Miss Walker reports, have come notices of intention to participate.

Ted Cook has said he felt that this show (that is to be held each year according to the present plan) might, in another year, have a national significance.

It already gives promise of a prestige not unbecoming civic pride!

2320 PLANES FOR U. S. IS ARMY'S PLAN

MARCH FIELD. (AP)—The secretary of war's program to have on hand or ordered 2320 airplanes by June 20, 1940, will be met, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Arnold assistant chief of the army air corps, said here.

He arrived from Washington, D. C., on an inspection of airplanes factories and army air bases in connection with air corps supply and airplane procurement, and said his inspections so far indicated the air reinforcement plans would be carried out.

General Arnold also said he was much interested in the war secretary's balanced program to obtain sufficient officer pilots, bombers and navigators, and trained enlisted radio operators aerial gunners and mechanics to maintain and operate this number of planes.

Cardenas Vetoes Opening of Caliente; Legal Games Out

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—President Cardenas of Mexico has turned thumbs down "even on legal gambling," and so the pretentious resort of Agua Caliente just below the border will not re-open on Christmas Eve as planned, Baron Long of the management said here today.

Long recently announced the casino and hotel would reopen Dec. 24 but today he declared he saw little hope of ever getting started again at the resort.

"There is not much we can do now," Long said. "We got a permit to reopen with legal games and were waiting for a list of legal games from Mexico City. Instead of the list, we got a cancellation of the permit."

Only the free zone gift shop and probably the race track of the $6,000,000 enterprise will remain open, he said. As to reasons for the permit cancellation, Long asserted:

"The president does not explain. It is all an indication that he has extended his anti-gambling ban even to the legal games, and I guess we've done all we can."

President Cardenas banned gambling three years ago.

MOTHER KILLS 4 CHILDREN

WAVERLY, Iowa. (AP)—Sheriff Frank Sager said a Bremer county woman shot four of her children in their sleep early today, fatally wounding two of them.

He said the woman, Mrs. Elias Watters, whom he is holding in the county jail here, admitted the shooting and declared the children "wouldn't mind her."

The tragedy took place at the Bremer farm where the woman and her family lived in a cabin. Her husband has been employed on a timber clearing project near Lansing, Ia., the sheriff said.

The dead children are: Eugene, 1. Beverly, 2. The wounded: Lavonne, 5, seriously injured, suffering from a rifle bullet in the neck.

Bernard, 9, critically injured, with a wound near the heart.

COAST YULE PARTY HELD AT LAGUNA

Dan Mulhaddon Is 'Santa Claus'

LAGUNA BEACH.—Christmas came to the Orange County Coast association here last night, with 140 persons taking part in the annual celebration, highlight of the year's program for coastal cities. With Dan Mulhaddon, county WPA director and mayor of San Clemente, playing Santa Claus, gifts were exchanged and a hilarious program of songs and fun staged under direction of President Les Kimmell of Laguna, Bill Gallienne of Huntington Beach, Harry Welch of Newport-Balboa and H. H. Henshaw of Laguna.

REV. HOGARTH TALKS

The Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, Laguna Episcopal pastor, traced the history of Christmas celebrations, urging that the yuletide spirit be fostered more than ever. Frank Cuprien, one of Laguna's leading artists, welcomed members to the meeting.

Appointed as a nominating committee to name prospective officers for the election at the January meeting were Sam A. Meyer, Newport; David I. Stoddard, San Clemente; Bill Gallienne, Huntington Beach; C. W. Miller, Seal Beach; John Malcom, San Juan Capistrano; C. D. Lindsay, Santa Ana and President Kimmell.

Guests introduced were Jack Crill, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county and Richard Rowland, president of the South Coast Improvement association.

HUGHES IN CHARGE
Elmer Hughes, Seal Beach mayor, was general chairman of the event, held in Hotel Laguna. He was assisted by Mrs. Sam Meyer, Mrs. Thomas Spencer Miller of Laguna and Mrs. C. G. Crawford, Mrs. C. G. Huston was in charge of presents for the evening.

Members unanimously adopted a resolution of sympathy for Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa, leader of the Coast association's Christmas lighting program, who is seriously ill at his home and was unable to attend the celebration.

GROVE STAR CLUB ELECTS

GARDEN GROVE.—Election of officers and a Christmas program featured a meeting of the Monday Afternoon Star club in the home of Mrs. Mae B. Pearson, this week. Chosen as new officers were Mrs. Letty Lee Robbins, president; Mrs. Helen Woodworth, vice president; Mrs. Anna Resfender, secretary; and Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, treasurer.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Ethel Schauer, opened with Christmas carols, with Mrs. Elizabeth Collins at the piano. Mrs. Lucille Franks read a Bible story and Mrs. Pauline Merchant gave a reading. Mrs. Bonnie Forbach and Mrs. Ethel Schauer assisted in serving a dessert course.

Others attending were Mesdames Lucille Hadley, Blanche Darling, H. Berman, Nina Knapp, May Stroud, Martha Watts, Clara Wilson, Lucille Walker, Mary Clark, Cleve Johnson, Ann Haster, Anola Nearing, Emma Henry, Dorothy Jentes, Mae Henry, Lida Mitchell, Clara Bryan, Emma Kearns, Anabel Bryan, Ella Wheeler and Mabel Williams.

Mrs. Earl Pryor Dinner Hostess

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. Earl Pryor was hostess at a Christmas party recently, entertaining members of her Sunday school class of the Christian church of Huntington Beach, at a covered dish dinner.

Places were marked for Lenore Helms, Lorraine Owens, Frances Pate, Irene Thornton, Frances King, Dora Scott, Pauline Owens, May Huff, Billie Kesterton, Maxine Honold, president of the class, and Mrs. Bernard Honold. A Christmas tree and gift exchange was enjoyed following the dinner hour.

PASTOR AT LIONS
The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be tomorrow's Lions club speaker. His talk will deal with Christmas.

Re-Appointed

The Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Farham, pastors of the Four-Square Gospel church, Fairview and Sycamore streets, will serve as leaders of the church for the next three years. They were re-appointed for that term yesterday by Almee Semple McPherson, church director. Both are pulpit veterans. Mrs. Farham having been preaching for 20 years, and Mr. Farham for 17. Chances for transfer to San Diego or Ventura were turned down by the pair in favor of Santa Ana, they said.

No! This Isn't Eleanor

Mrs. John King Roosa (right), and her friend Bette Tourat are getting a little tired of explaining to callers on the phone that they are not the Roosevelts. She has the telephone number of the President's old New York town house.

HOLY-DAY IDEA PARTY HELD

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mrs. Jesse Manson and Mrs. Evelyn Starkey of Bushard Road, Huntington Beach, were hostesses to a group of friends at a "Holy-day idea" party. Ideas and thoughts on Christmas were exchanged, and games were played.

The table was decorated with poinsettias and red candles, the coloring of the light luncheon served helped carry the Christmas motif.

Mrs. Wylie and Mrs. Donahue furnished the entertainment by singing solos accompanied by Mrs. Gilmore.

Those present were Mesdames Bertha Patton, Vera Fidler, Gilda Jones, Gwendolyn Singletary, Anna Grable, Laura Gilmore, Callie Wylie, Cora Apple, Abby Little, Eleanor Butler, Louisiana McGallen, Alice Adams, Edna Porter, Lillian Rigg, Bertha Butcher, Glenn Van Meter, Elizabeth Donahue, Marian Conrad, Edith Cooper, Viroka Cook, the Misses Donna Jean and Martha Ann Butler, Patricia Lou Singletary, and the hostesses, Mrs. Jesse Manson and Mrs. Evelyn Starkey.

TWO CHURCH PARTIES SET

ORANGE.—Two Christmas celebrations are scheduled for tonight, one a party for members of the intermediate department of the Methodist Sunday school in the Epworth hall from 7 to 9 p. m., and the other the annual Christmas program of the Presbyterian Sunday school in the church auditorium.

Howard Harper will supervise the games at the Methodist party and Mrs. E. H. Crofoot the refreshments. Teachers who will assist are Miss Lulu Thornberg, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hancock, and Harry Nuffer.

The beginners, primary, junior and intermediate departments will take part in the program at the Presbyterian church, with Santa Claus to present candy. Mrs. Ray Price, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Lush, Miss Edith Culter, Ensey Campbell, Mrs. Henry Joost, Mrs. Paul Wright, organist, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, Mrs. Vern O. Estes and Mrs. Harvey Riggle is in charge of the arrangements.

CHURCH CLASS HAS PARTY

GARDEN GROVE.—Members of the sixth grade girls class from the junior department of the First Methodist church Sunday school met at the home of the department superintendent, Mrs. W. E. Sullivan, for a Yuletide party Monday evening.

The class teacher, Miss Barbara Dales, directed the group in a series of games after which gifts were exchanged. Class members present were Winifred Chaffee, Carol German, Alma Gene Schrock, Ella Mae Rogers, Jackie Scott, Betty Lou Noble, June Hickey, Barbara Weatherman, Norma Jean Wilson, Dorothy Schneider, Ellen McGrew.

Guests will be Mrs. W. L. Getty, Mrs. Ross McNeill, Mrs. Curtis Vaughn, Mrs. William Westphal, and Miss Vera Getty, of Santa Ana; Mrs. W. O. Bridges, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Jack Reed and Mrs. Clinton Armstrong, Tustin; Mrs. Harry Hermansen, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Gertrude McLean, Corona.

Mr. and Mrs. Hehn also expect Hehn's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hehn, to arrive Christmas Eve from Grand Island, Neb. They will remain over the week-end in Costa Mesa.

In night rescue work, the coast-guard uses powerful acetylene searchlights, practically wind and water proof, which shed a diffused light over the field of operations.

NONA WORTHY TAKES VOWS

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Nona Worthy, daughter of J. F. Worthy of Midway City, was wed recently to John Carl of Compton in the Pueblo Aratorio in the Chapman Park hotel in Los Angeles.

Four brothers of the bride assisted at the wedding. Robert Worthy, former pastor of Huntington Beach, now pastor of the Christian church in Van Ness, performed the ceremony. Eleanor Worthy of Los Angeles, gave the bride away. Larry Worthy of Huntington Beach, and Conrad Worthy of Ocean View, sang a few selections. Mrs. Ollie Banks of Glendale, was matron of honor; Paul Neagly, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Carl is a teacher in the junior high school at Compton and is also a graduate of U.S.C. The couple will reside temporarily in Huntington Beach at the Worthy apartments.

BEACH W. R. C. TO INSTALL

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Open installation will be held Jan. 18 in the Memorial hall for the newly elected officers of the Woman's Relief corps.

Officers to be installed are president, Minnie Higgins; senior vice-president, Frances Murphy; junior vice-president, Nora Judy; treasurer, Elizabeth Wright; chaplain, Harriet Dowty; conductor, Sadie Cooley; guard, Mary Jurkovich; delegates, Kate Forney, Nellie Martin, and alternate delegates, Mary Jurovitch and May Richey.

Appointments made by the incoming president are musician, Maud Joseph, patriotic instructor, Gertrude Whitmore; secretary, Grace Moraville; press correspondent, May Richey; color bearers, Nellie Martin, Catherine Parker, Bertha Dart and Florence Cleveland; assistant conductor, Myrtle Yost, and assistant guard, Gladys Ivaless.

Elizabeth H. Wright was elected in the place of Kate Forney who resigned as treasurer due to ill health.

Hare Pupils in Holiday Recital

WESTMINSTER.—Mary Lou Hare presented two of her music pupils, Ellamae Hylton and Frances Hurd, in a Christmas recital at her home studio on Westminster boulevard, Saturday night. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hylton, Mrs. R. I. Johnson, Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Ruth Meairs, Mrs. May Fogler, Marguerite Fogler, Marie Fogler, Mrs. Hazel Hurd, Mrs. Alice Hare and Mrs. Chester Campbell, Janice Campbell, Mrs. Verela, Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Rez, Mr. Sheldon, Mrs. Virginia Patterson, Mrs. Harry Penhall, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hare and Mrs. Montgomery of Anaheim.

Costa Mesans Enjoy Yule Party

COSTA MESA.—An enjoyable evening was passed by a number of young friends when Miss Graycie Carol Abrams entertained Saturday night at a Christmas party given in her home at 1830 Fullerton avenue. Games were played around the fireplace and refreshments served.

Present were the Misses Alva Vucich, Evelyn Beardsley, Jackie Lou St. Clair, Vita Mae Boyd, La Noma Grauel, Virginia Woodhouse, Rosalyn Makely, Bette Pinkley, Eva Jo Felt and Messrs. Ronald Cleveland, Eugene Pilley, Paul Myrehn, Ray Wallace, Jr., and "Buster" Pinkley.

Orange 20-30 Meeting Set

ORANGE.—All former members of the Orange 20-30 club have been invited to a homecoming Christmas party to be held tonight in the Sunshine Broller starting with a dinner at 6:45 o'clock. The chairman, Melvin R. Clement, has asked that each bring an inexpensive toy, all of which later will be given to the Welfare board for distribution to needy children.

Music Section Of Mesa Club Has Annual Event

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Norris O. Mellott, president of the Friday Afternoon club, was hostess at luncheon Monday to members of the club's music section. Mrs. C. A. Custer read the story of the origin of caroling and customs of different nations in celebrating the Yule season. Mrs. D. Earl Brown, chairman of study of the opera, "Lohengrin," presented Mrs. Ernest K. Kirby who gave the biography of Wagner. Mrs. Brown then reviewed the story of the production and Mrs. Robert S. Erbe, read the opera, also singing many of the arias. Mrs. F. E. Russell played the famous "Bridal Chorus," and through the courtesy of Miss Sarah Conant, custodian of the Costa Mesa library, the group was enabled to have the score of the opera and the record of the prelude to the first act. Halstead McCormac, superintendent of music at Costa Mesa Elementary schools, also permitted the use of many of his own records of the opera.

PLACENTIA DRIVE ENDS

PLACENTIA.—Mrs. T. L. McFadden, chairman of the Placentia Red Cross chapter, and Mrs. B. M. Hennessey, roll call chairman, announced Tuesday that funds secured from the annual membership drive which has been conducted since Armistice Day, were totaled and it was found that the quota of $150 was over-subscribed. Mrs. Hennessey, who conducted an active personal campaign, expressed her thanks especially to Dr. D. J. Brigham and his committee, and to Earl M. Everett, who looked after funds and accepted dues at the Placentia Bank of America.

Yule Party Is Set Tonight

PLACENTIA.—Co-operating with the local chamber of commerce, Placentia merchants have arranged for an all-day party at the big lighted Christmas tree at Bradford and Santa Fe avenues today and tonight. Santa Claus was to parade the streets from 2 to 7 p. m. and will distribute toys and candy at the tree from 5 to 7 o'clock. The committee in charge, W. Ray Easton, Dr. D. J. Brigham, S. C. Harmony and Bruce Miller, will drive through the district after 8 p. m. and decide winners in the Christmas lighting contest. Entries may be either homes, shop windows, or lighted trees.

'Round-Up' Set At H. B. Church

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—"The Family Roundup," under the direction of O. B. Hilderale, will be presented tonight in the Methodist church as part of the program presented by the Sunday school. There also will be a Christmas tree.

Characters in the play are Verdi Rimel, A. L. Chapman, Martha Stevens, Fae Clapp, Delight Carroll, Fred Harris, Robert Stricklin, J. A. Price, Homer Dowty, Carlton Conrad and Shirley Ann Moore.

Door Battering Brings Arrest

Charges of breaking and entering were "reduced" to drunkenness for Frank J. Kelly, 42, 517 Wellington street, last night. He assertedly broke down the back door of Albino Leon's home, 913 East Pine street, and wouldn't leave the house until Leon started throwing bottles. Police today have a physician's testimony to help them prove Kelly was drunk at the time.

AUXILIARY PARTY

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The Junior Auxiliary enjoyed a Christmas party in Memorial hall last night. Mrs. Anita Washburn and Mrs. Stella Jensen provided the entertainment, after which refreshments were served. Approximately 25 members were present.

HAIRBRUSH URGED FOR YOUNGSTERS

ORANGE.—The Rev. James Whitcomb Brounger, jr., pastor of the Baptist church of Glendale, advocated the old-fashioned use of the hair brush as an aid to children, when he spoke to the Men's page of the Orange Monday night in the parish hall of the Trinity Episcopal church. The speaker stressed the responsibility of the present generation to the coming generation, pointing out that men today must train young people to resist temptations, which, he said, are more numerous than in former days. E. E. Campbell was program chairman. Don Smiley presided. A musical program was given by Stanley Kurtz, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Kurtz.

Grove Guild Members Feted

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Hilda Reafsnider, Mrs. Margaret Schneider and Mrs. Clara Shumaker were hostesses at a dinner and Christmas party of the Esther Guild Missionary society at the First Methodist church Monday evening.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Vivian Smith and Mrs. Ramah Emley, included a reading by Jean Holt, singing of Christmas carols by Miss Dorothy Smith with Helen Meyer at the piano. Mrs. Geraldine Crow of Anaheim read a Christmas story and Marcella Turner gave a reading. A group of high school students, directed by D. S. Jordan, gave the Christmas play, "Dust on the Road." In the cast were Elinor Clemons, Dan Head, Joe Allen and Bob Stronge. Gifts in an exchange were distributed from the tree by Marcella Turner.

Others present were Mrs. Irene Reafsnider, Francella Goddard, Laura Sprinkle, Nell Waite, Lucille Hadley, Gladys Prior, Goldie Stuck, Gladys Lamb, Mabel Chaffee, Winifred German, Wilma Milshelster, Marguerite Mitchell, Hazel Filler, Lucretia of Anaheim, Anabel Bryan, Lela McClain, Misses M. Strain, Velda Barnes, Marcia Carmichael, Helen Knox and Ruth Fitz.

Duck Dinner Is Mesa Event

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Joseph C. Payne and Mrs. Homer Meljott were co-hostesses Sunday evening at a duck dinner in the Payne home at 278 Broadway. Bridge was played during the evening, high score being awarded to Mrs. George Healey and John F. Webster.

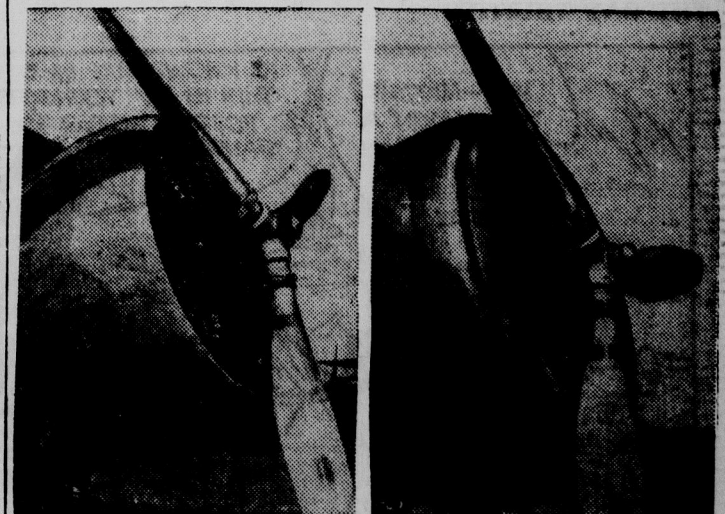

Proceeds of the dinner were turned over to the Orange county Saloon 163, of the Eight-ety-Four society of the American Legion auxiliary for Christmas child welfare.

Present were Mesdames and Messrs. M. J. Hostetter, Ray Wallace, Joseph C. Payne, George Healey, John F. Webster, Homer Meljott, Norris Mellott, Miss Gladys Young, Robert Robinson, all of Costa Mesa and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rassmussen of Santa Ana.

Party Honors Grove Resident

GARDEN GROVE.—Invited to spend a recent evening with Mrs. Harry Ames and daughter, Miss Onelia Ames, Mrs. Mary Tolkein was surprised to find a group of friends assembled to celebrate her 82nd birthday anniversary. Others present included the honor guest's son, Harold Tolkein, and daughter Mrs. Carrie Burleigh, Mrs. John Hudson, Mrs. C. Rathburn, Mrs. F. Baker, Mrs. Ruth Melvin and Mrs. Cloe Saunders.

Planes to Step Faster In Their 1938 Bonnets

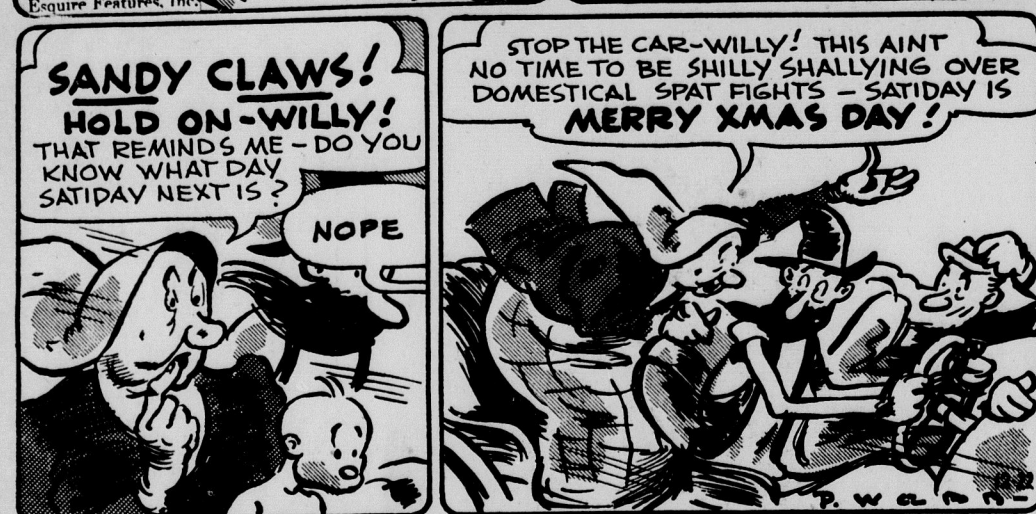

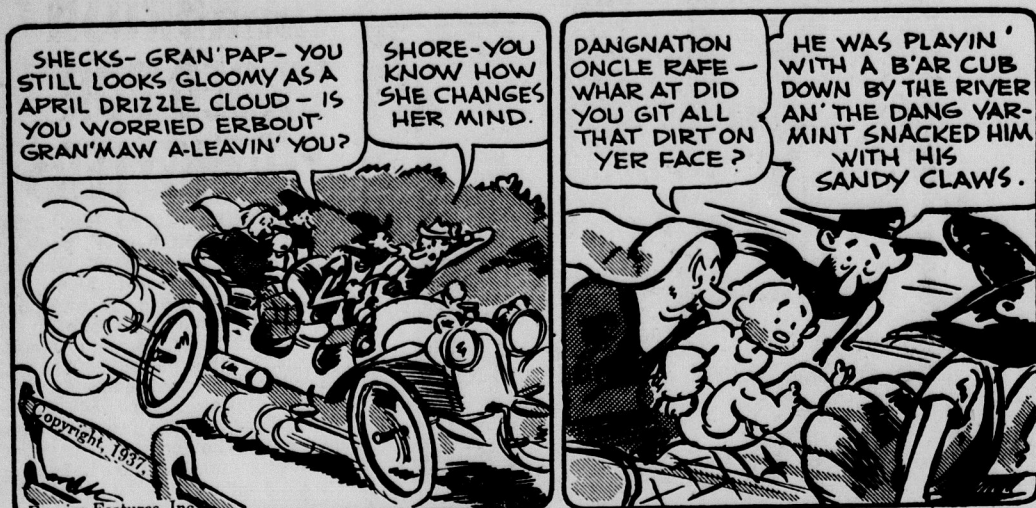

THIS YEAR'S STYLE In the bonnets of today's planes, the air passes over the engine and out through the skirt at the rear. It's standard equipment on nearly all American-built planes.

By the AP Feature Service flows in over the engine and out through the skirt at the rear. The new cowling takes air in through the center opening behind the propeller, passes it over the cylinders and then reverses the flow to send the air out through slots a few inches behind the point where it entered. The front of the cowling looks like two doughnuts fitted together. The rear one can be moved back and forth to adjust the location of the outlet slots.

Madman's Holiday

No responsible country in the world, save Japan, could stage the performance that is now to be witnessed at Tokyo and Shanghai. The heads of the government admit in full the bombing and machine gunning of the U. S. S. Panay. The generals of the army that made the machine gun attack deny it was made.

The government spokesmen apologize and promise more even than Washington demands. The army contradicts its own government. In fact, from hour to hour the army heads contradict themselves as well.

For a long while, it has been plain that the world is dealing with two Japans. One is represented by the cabinet sitting in Tokyo and purporting to govern the nation. The other is a ruthless war machine that is driving hell-bent into China—into China and, in time, we cannot help believe, to its own destruction.

That these two Japans are working, not only at cross purposes, but at times in dire antagonism to each other, is indicated by the fact that some of the men who are directing the merciless and unprovoked warfare from Shanghai to Nanking are the same men who, on several occasions, have brought about numerous assassinations of premiers and other high officials in Japan's own Tokyo government. Surely such a regime cannot endure. If its own exasperated people do not stamp it down, a patiently aroused China, a jealous Soviet Russia, or just plain old Economic Law and retribution, or a combination of these forces, will fairly soon arise to crush this infamy.

The safest thing to predict of labor parleys is postponement.

Fourth Commandment

An eastern university's student editor lately polled almost 1500 students on the question of whether they consider the Ten Commandments of the Bible to be cogent rules for "the mad scheme of modern living."

The majority of answers on the 10 indicated that modern youth does consider them valid rules.

There were objections to several of the commandments, as was to be expected in a blind poll dealing with young people. The very phrasing of his case by the student editor called for a certain amount of flippancy, exhibitionism and objection.

Although the "anti" votes ranged upward to several hundred in two or three cases, only 12 votes were cast against the Fourth Commandment, "Thou shalt honor thy father and thy mother."

Here was a question that even irreverent college youngsters did not care to take liberties with.

Buy the T. B. stamps. No Christmas present is complete without them.

Matter of Coloring

One of New York's many male gossips reports that Lynn Fontanne, good actress and professional limelight occupier, has painted her fingernails a solid jet black.

Now jet black all-over fingernails might have a practical advantage for a farm hand or a small boy in marble-playing time. But for dainty ladies! Isn't it a good deal too much like those Ubangi ladies wearing pie plates in their upper lips?

Anyway, there isn't much farther to go. Maybe the professional exhibitionist, Miss Fontanne, has uncorked the fingernail tint to end all fingernail tinting.

Do you remember how pretty a sweet 16-year-old girl used to look in a fluffy chiffon or organdy dress, and with only a rose in her hair for coloring?

There's talk of night sessions for congress. Then they could get twice as little done.

He Has a Tax Theory

Well, here's an economist and author who believes that all income taxes should be abolished. He's in Los Angeles right now, and is hoping to be appointed U. S. senator from New Jersey to fill a vacancy. If he is, of course he'll work to pass a law doing away with the objectionable tax on incomes.

But—excuse it, please—we'd failed to mention who this economist is. He's James H. R. Cromwell.

His views, naturally, are entirely unprejudiced and based on the pure principles of economic philosophy. Just by coincidence, he's worth $30,000,000 in his own right and is the husband of Doris Duke, heiress to an $80,000,000 tobacco fortune. So, he ought to know something about income taxes, hadn't he?

Train and Pullman fares are going up, but anyone who hurries can still see America first.

Democracy's Aims

Someone wants to know if "it is not time for the democratic nations of the world to join hands and form an Association for the Preservation of Democratic Government?"

Preceded by a couple of "ifs," the answer is "Yes," of course.

If the association is not going to try to force its ideas of government on others who may not agree.

And if the entire project is predicated on an ideal of peace.

Unless such an association has these two purposes deeply and sincerely imbedded in its foundations it should be called by another and a truer name.

FAIR Enough

Millionaire Touched by Pure Pity

By Westbrook
Pegler

A constituent of big-hearted George Berry, the junior senator from Tennessee and millionaire president of the Pressmen's union, has a letter from the rich labor leader appealing for money to save the children of his neighbors in the mountains of eastern Tennessee. Senator Berry, who is currently engaged in pressing a claim against the government for as-sorted marbles forever lost beneath the war behind Norris dam at Knoxville, betrays in this letter a sentimental side of his nature which is not sufficiently emphasized in the litigation over his rights, if any.

"My home is in these beautiful southern mountains," he says, failing, out of modesty, no doubt, to add that his home is literally his castle and that his own side-hill patch in the beautiful southern mountains is a domain of 30,000 acres, "and I am proud of the kindly people of sturdy American stock, especially of our children."

"From them will come workers in industrial and other fields, genuine leaders, too, if they are given bodies strong enough to resist diseases of malnutrition; if their minds are trained in the fundamentals of education and their characters made free from hurtful prevalent weakness due to the isolation of past generations."

HIS TENDER HEART

This is all too true, and it is a privilege to give publicity to the appeal of a statesman and labor leader who is fierce in battle on the side of justice, but, in the words of the poet childhood, "Any child can rent apart." The wealthy union man is not so very busy defending his sacred property rights, if any, against the depredations of a good though possibly erring government but that he finds time to appeal to others to relieve distress which can, in a manner of speaking, be seen from his castle window on a clear day unless the blinds are drawn.

The value of the marble beneath the lake on land which he has leased has not yet been stated, but a witness in his behalf estimated the damage at from $2,225,000 or $2,250,000. Neither of these figures has been disclosed to the public, but the amount which the millionaire labor leader paid for the leases, although, from the tenor of his appeal on behalf of the mountain children, it seems almost certain that he dealt generously with his simple neighbors in the hills.

Perhaps that again, is modesty, for a man so touched that the wretched want of those about him would not be one to boast of his own good deeds, even to prime the pump of pity in others not so near, yet in spite of the senator's reticence these prices will be known one day and his fellow men will be able to appraise his nobility of heart in the mathematical ratio of the amount which he paid the mountaineers for the leases to the amount eventually claimed as his damage.

A WONDERFUL EXAMPLE

As for the emancipation of the characters of the children from hurtful, prevalent weakness, it seems almost unnecessary to suggest that the millionaire union man's own presence in their midst should be sufficient to strike the shackles. His career from the status of the poor orphan at 7, to that of union president at 25, and United States senator at 55, with an unexcelled willingness to serve his fellow citizens as president of the Pressmen's union, which has distinguished him from the ruin of men. Not every man would have the courage to brave the leering innuendoes of counsel for the government that the leases were obtained with some view of their value in condemnation proceedings—an intimation which the rich president of the pressmen met, however, with the indisputable reply that he didn't have to sue the government to make a living.

His fight for the value of the marble beneath his leases in the face of low insinuations by attorneys for the TVA is but another example of that worthy citizenship which has distinguished him from the ruin of men. Not every man would have the courage to brave the leering innuendoes of counsel for the government that the leases were obtained with some view of their value in condemnation proceedings—an intimation which the rich president of the pressmen met, however, with the indisputable reply that he didn't have to sue the government to make a living.

CHICAGO.—A monthly magazine for hoboes is to be published by President Jefferson Davis of the Brotherhood Welfare association, he announced today. It will be a "trade journal" known as the International Hobo Review. "The hobo is a man who is always looking for work but cannot find it," President Davis defined. "He's not to be confused with the tramp and bum, who do not want employment."

LONDON.—Memorial services for Ambassador Reid were celebrated yesterday at Westminster Abbey in an impressive ceremony. It was one of the few times in history that Great Britain's famous cathedral has been offered to other than British subjects of great distinction.

CHICAGO.—Three persons had been arrested today as police followed every clue in an effort to find the slayers of Joseph E. Logue, diamond broker, who yesterday was stabbed to death in his office in the McVicker theater building in the heart of the downtown district.

Several horses belonging to William Yost at his ranch near Oceanside were run down yesterday and killed by a Santa Fe freight train, he learned. Yost left for Oceanside today to investigate the extent of his loss.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I read the other day where a politician in the Middle West said the best way to deal with a racketeer is to appeal to his sense of justice. The trouble is, a lot of racketeers have been at it so long they have begun to think that they have a legitimate business.

I remember down home when all the farmers started misbehaving. They were pretty certain who the hog thief was but they never could catch him at it. One day my uncle got in a big shipment of prize hogs and he called this hog thief over to the house and says, "Now, I'm gonna make you a proposition. I'll let you take your pick of two of the finest hogs in that bunch if you'll promise not to bother any of the rest of 'em." The hog thief looked over this big bunch of fat hogs and says, "Well, you've been a pretty good neighbor and I'll accept your offer, but I'm losin' a lot of good meat."

THE REMINDER
A gentleman visited the house of an old friend where the butler an Irishman paid him every attention, and finally saw him into his carriage. The gentleman, who was miserly, did not tip him.

As a delicate reminder, the butler said, "Faith, sir, if you lose your purse on the way home, remember you didn't pull it out here." —Montreal Star.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on housing, now one of the most important problems before the country.—Ed. note.)

New Deal experts doubtful about housing bill as slump panacea; fear rising costs, desire to rent may stall the housing drive; unlike Britain, U. S. has no pact to keep down building prices; people rent, don't own homes today due to many social changes.

WASHINGTON.—The Administration is banking heavily on its new housing act, now before congress, but there are two important things which are going to cause trouble.

1. The fact that when the public starts building houses, the price of building materials immediately goes up, thereby diminishing any building boom.

2. The fact that our industrial and social system has changed in such a way as to discourage home-buying.

The first of these—increased building costs—was what hampered the British during their first housing experiment. Their first building program started in 1920.

Because the determination of building costs was left entirely to supply and demand. In the United States, also, it was rising costs in 1937 which nipped the building boomlet which started in 1936.

To start of their second building program in 1924, the British called building contractors, building material manufacturers and labor unions, obtaining from them an agreement that prices and wages would not be hiked after the government started its housing program.

So far, there has been no such step by the Roosevelt administration. Some of the President's advisors have talked with different sections of the building industry and said:

"Now of course, we'll expect you to keep prices down."

But there has been no general agreement throughout the industry.

DEFECT NO. 2
Defect No. 2, however, is far more important. Real fact is that the old urge of every man to own his own home now is diluted by four factors: Easy divorce, smaller families, the automobile and the machine age.

Today families are less permanent. More families are pulled apart by divorce, and there is no definite conviction in the minds of many couples that they want to make a permanent investment in a home. Also the smaller family makes apartment houses cheaper and more convenient.

Even more important, probably, is the shift to large scale industrial production. Today when a factory shuts down, the worker frequently gets into his car and goes to another city looking for work. Sometimes he takes his family with him. A home of his own on which he is still paying installments is the last thing he wants.

Drought in the dust bowl, the ten-hour day system in the south has put a premium on mobility for a considerable portion of the population.

HOUSES FOR RENT

Today the United States is short some 2,000,000 houses. But studies by the national housing committee show that the great need is not so much houses to buy, as houses to rent. Furthermore, the need is for cheap renting houses. Almost all of the 2,000,000 houses needed are for the group paying $30 a month rent or less. There is a surplus of houses for those in the upper rental brackets.

The housing act now before congress paves the way for some low cost houses by aiding mortgage associations to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. These associations, in turn, would lend the money and could lend for large scale and cheaper building operations.

This was the most promising thing accomplished by the present federal housing administration, namely the construction of suburban developments, where large scale operations reduced costs. PHA officials hope that they can bring the cost of a $5000 house down to around $4000 by building in large quantities on the mail order method.

NO OPTIMISM

Privately, New Deal housing experts aren't awfully optimistic about the effects of the new housing bill. The new bill brings interest rates down to 5 per cent which is considered very beneficial, and it also increases the insurance to 90 per cent of loans up to $5400 on houses occupied by the owners and 80 per cent and 90 per cent on owner-occupied homes up to $8600.

This, it is believed, will be of doubtful value. The present federal housing act permits loans up to 80 per cent, and even this did not go down easily with many banks. They have been used to lending money on only 50 per cent and disliked the higher margin. Also, they had some trouble passing their mortgages on to the insurance companies and other investors, despite the government guarantee.

During the past two years an increase of loan values up to 90 per cent has been discussed many times within the PHA, but always turned down as poor strategy. Now, however, it is to be in the new law, and probably will not change the number of houses built by more than a few thousand.

BASIC PROBLEM

One New Deal expert, discussing housing, said:

"If the automobile industry were run the way houses are built, workers would be driving around in 1916 Cadillacs and Packards instead of 1936 Fords and Chevrolts."

In other words, the houses occupied by the low income workers of today are the now-decaying mansions of yesterday. And with so large a proportion of the population earning less than $1000 a year, it is estimated that 21 per cent of the people can afford to pay only $17 per month rent.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immediately needed. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

GUNS AND CHILDREN

To the Editor: One person collected in the first 11 months of 1937 clippings from a limited number of California newspapers reporting the suicides of five children 15 years of age or less, and 42 violent deaths caused by children with guns.

These figures omit cases of blindness or other serious injuries caused by children. They omit children victims of older persons. They omit intentional murders committed by children using other weapons than guns.

National totals from United States press agencies are recent years have been from 300 to 1200 cases annually but these include cases of children killed by older persons.

The numbers quoted here relate to the acts of children using guns. Five suicides and 42 other deaths, nearly all in one state.

Three children shot their fathers. Each case was one of intent. One child shot his grandmother. Eight shot brothers or sisters. The other fatal cases were playmates or neighbors or persons in the line of targets in back yards. One child was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder.

Too many children know where too many guns are kept in too many homes. Accident is the wrong name. Every case is one of gross carelessness of parents.

What Other Editors Say

SPEAKING OF TRAFFIC

There are thousands of motorists in Southern California who will admit that when they cross the line into Orange county, they slow down. If you are one of them, you know why this mysterious thing occurs, why when you are in Orange county you keep your mind on obeying the speed laws.

It's because 20 years ago there lived in Orange county a judge who enforced the law against speeders to the limit. He is gone, but not forgotten. Because, in his day, if you were caught speeding in Orange county, you went to jail—and there were no ifs, ands or buts about it. Possibly you recall that Bebe Daniels, the movie actress, with plenty of money with which to pay a fine did a 10-day "ride" in the Orange county jail.

Stranger, isn't it, what can be accomplished by doing the obvious thing? All Judge Cox did was to enforce the law! And let all concerned know that he meant it. No "fixed" tickets; no "pull," no slogans, and banquets, and talk—just plain law enforcement, and jail for all violators, rich and poor.

We might try some of that in San Diego where traffic safety is becoming an item of great concern to all of us.—San Diego Sun.

LANDON AND HOOVER

Alfred M. Landon, the 1936 nominee of the Republican party, has announced he would not accept a re-nomination if it were offered, and thus eliminated himself from the 1940 campaign.

Some political observers think the announcement was a hint that Herbert Hoover should make a similar statement. Mr. Hoover has repeatedly indicated that he desires no further trials in public office. He has not declared, as Mr. Landon has, that he would not accept the nomination if tendered.

We doubt that national leaders such as Mr. Landon and Mr. Hoover are justified in taking such a decisive stand as Mr. Landon has taken.

Destiny might require the services of either or both. They could not and should not refuse a request of their party to serve if the party made the request.—Riverside Enterprise.

THE BIRDS' NEW DEAL

Truly the kindness that dwells in the White House knows no bounds, for it kindles not only for the sufferers of the human race but for the very birds of the air. The north wind blows and Mrs. Roosevelt writes:

"Ever since I read the account of how exhausted the birds are when they reach their destination after their migration from the north, I have wondered if there is any way in which their habits might be changed. Perhaps they would not mind the cold if we all saw to it that they had enough to eat. I think that besides feeding our squirrels this winter, we will get some advice from the birds to put out to attract and keep as many birds as possible."

Why, bless her heart! These ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clothed little feathered friends are going to be made happy even if they have to have their habits changed. —San Francisco News.

IRISH BULL

Patrick and Michael were forced one evening to share the same room in a hotel. In the morning Michael inquired: "Say, Patrick, did you hear the thunder last night?"

"No, Mike. Did it really thunder?"

"Yes, it thundered as if the heaven and earth would come together."

"Well, why didn't ye wake me? Ye know I can't sleep when it thunders!"

WHIMSIES

NEW YORK.—Jack Hines is back in circulation, having returned from his latest experiment in working a gold claim in a lonely Nevada Valley. Hines is the writing world's true soldier of fortune. A gentleman of many talents, who has roamed the world as fancy dictates.

Twenty years ago he rounded up from the Klondike to write his famous dog stories for the leading magazines. And for a number of years his fine baritone voice rang clear at the Dutch Treat and Illustrators' shows. But his life has not been all glamour. Plenty of ups and downs.

He was on the stage awhile, sang in night clubs and had an auto accident in which he was for a time horribly disfigured aside from losing a part of his tongue. He had to learn to talk again. Gene Buck called him the Bombardier Wells of literature—often on the floor but always got up.

Rex Beach can recall the time he was in a jerry-built roadhouse on the shores of the Behring sea when he was a stripling. A youth with a ten days growth of beard arrived by a dog sled. And Beach, who played the mandolin, started the newcomer singing and he sang until dawn. It was Hines.

On a recent day the Artists and Writers paid Hines a deserved compliment in welcoming him home. Frank Crownshield proposed him for honorary life membership of the Artists and Writers Club. Rube Goldberg, Bud Keland, Grant Rice and Messmore Kendall were among those who arose to the last man to second the nomination with a lusty cheer. And Hines sang his thanks with misty eyes.

The short light tan box coat with the black velvet collar that Billy (Single) Clifford used to affect in vaudeville along with a low bowler is finding expression again. I saw two exponents on the avenue in the late Fall and they threaten to become almost a plague by Spring. And a style shark at Sulka's tells me the silk shirt is in again. It went into eclipse with the market nose dive and was worn mostly by the gamblers and tin horn toppers.

Mayor La Guardia and the architect Whitney Warren are, so far as I can notice, the last defenders of the wide-brimmed black Stetson, so popular in Missouri and Kansas in the days of the Younger and James boys role. The mayor acquired a hanker for the style during his early Arizona days, and Warren, an elderly man, evidently clung to the shape as a left-over of his student days in the Paris Latin Quarter. Hatters say no one can wear the pampas sombrero, on the screen, stage or sidewalk, like William S. Hart. Although the late Maclyn Arbuckle was not far behind.

His Honor the Mayor is the least style conscious of any metropolitan chief executive. He buys store clothes at a shop on Broadway and two extra suits are usually the limit of his wardrobe. It is seldom his habiliments are not in his need of the presser's art, and his necessities are never quite thoroughly knotted. Clothes simply do not interest him. And New York somehow warns to his derelictions. The town was pretty well fed up with descriptions of J. Jimmy Walker's one-buttoned great coats, high peaked lapels and tings.

The peg for the sartorial panegyrics today is, of course, Lucius Beebe, whose latest fashion rocket zoomed in one of the night clubs where he appeared in a dinner jacket of a deep tobacco brown. But Beebe, a slay in his own right, is, I suspect, merely needing the kidders when he dazzles the populace now and then. He is willing, despite the austerity of his sober face, to go to great lengths for a laugh. Also he has by his dressy dildoes, feigned and real, advertised himself and column from coast to coast. In two years he is about the best known reporter in America.

I watched an accomplished brandy drinker in a restaurant last night. He was like a kitten with catnip while basking in the aroma from an enormous goblet. And then he would slip and roll his eyes heavenward, heaving an ecstatic sigh. During our stay he made away with four pourings and a waiter said his customary quota was a half dozen, after which he walked out steadily. With a half dozen, most of us would go out feet up on a litter.

"You can't pass this way, sir," said the country policeman. "I've orders to turn back all motorists that come along this road."

"But I'm the chief constable," declared the motorist.

"Sorry, sir, I didn't know. I got orders to let no traffic through because of the rotten bridge, but seeing it's you, sir, it's no more. Go right ahead, sir." Tid-Bits
